SOME VIGOROUS SPEECHES MADE

The War Is On, and Will Not End Until Justice Is Done and Wrongs Are Righted.

Memphis, Tenn., June 12 .- When the committee on resolutions appointed at today's session of the southern and western states silver convention makes its report tomorrow there may be a lively time. The committee went out at 5 o'clock and it is thought will be ready to read the platform at an early hour tomorrow. The plank which may make all the trouble is one which indorses Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, for president. Mr. Sibley is a man of brilliant attainments, a fervid friend of the free silver idea, and a cordial hater of the administration policy.

In his speech tonight at the Auditorium he did not spare either Cleveland or Carlisle. It is somewhat doubtful at present whether the plank will ever get through the committee. If it does it is almost certain it will never get through the convention. The more conservative members of the delegation do not believe it would be good policy to introduce a presidential boom for even so popular a friend of the free silver movement as Mr. Sibley into a platform was originally intended to show nothing but the feeling of the convention on the money question.

From the standpoint of the white money enthusiast nothing was left to be desired by teday's convention. Two thousand delegates braved the torrid skies to be present and every state, with few exceptions, sent its most prominent and representative men with instructions to shout for silver, vote for silver and tolerate no discussion of anything else but silver. The delegations varied greatly in size, the largest coming from Mississippi and Tennessee, and the smallest from some of the far western or silver distant silver states was explained to the convention by Governor L. Bradford Prince, states had recently attended the convention at Salt Lake City. Nevertheless, said Govunrepresented. Cunningham, attorney general of Louis Cunningham, attorney general of Louisiana; John Fitzpatrick, mayor of New Orleans; A. J. Warner, president of the American Bimetallic League; Governor J. P. Clarke, of Arkansas; W. J. Bryan, editor of The Omaha World-Herald; Senator James H. Berry, of Arkansas; Senator Stewart, of Nevada; Anson Wolcott, of Indiana; Senator I. G. Harris, of Tennessee; Alexander Delmar, of California; Representative H. D. Money, of Mississippi; Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas; Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina; Representative H. D. Money, of Mississippi; Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas; Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina; Senator J. Z. George, of Mississippi; Senator David Turpie, of Indiana; ex-Governor Eagle, of Arkansas; Governor L. Bradford Prince, of New Mexico; ex-Governor Benjamin Tillman, of South Carolina; Governor John Gary Evans, of South Carolina. From start to finish the convention was one of the greatest of enthusiasm. Every pronounced free silver utterance was the signal for prolonged applause and when the various persons well known in public life appeared on the rostrum each received

When Chairman Brown had called the convention to order L. D. Estes offered a prayer in which he implored divine guidance for the delegates and hoped they might be led into adopting "honest money" as their platform. This created a bit of a on until it was learned that he free silver.

Colonel Young Welcomes Them. Colonel Casey Young, of Memphis, then delivered the following address of welcome:

convention as the advance guard of this convention as the advance guard of that mighty army now marshaling its forces in every land to do battle for the overthrow and destruction of a power more ruthless and rapacious and more hurtful to human iness and prosperity than any despot ever shackled liberty and oppressed

"I greet you representatives as the fore runners of countless legions now gathering from the field of labor and industry throughout the world to demand the restoration of that financial system approved by e wisdom and experience of all the cen-ries of civilization. When only a few ys ago the objects and aims of this nvention were denounced from this stage by a distinguished public man as rebellious and revolutionary, he proclaimed the truth as sublime as ever fell from the lips of The sturdy, honest yeomen of the land, busy toilers in the fields and shops, the patient artisans who are building up open rebellion against a despotlsm, cruel and remorseless as any that ever brought sorrow and suffering to any member of the human family. The forces of the grandest revolution, that ever hurled a despot from power are gathering for an experimental content of the state of the s onset that will sweep every enemy into the dark sea of defeat. "The invincible legions which lead it will standards are planted on the shore of every sea and banners float in triumph over old England herself. They will never lower their flags nor sheath their swords until the mighty conflict is ended and a planted with the respective to the standard of the swords until the mighty conflict is ended and a planted with the respective to the standard of th glorious victory won; not until all the temples of Mammon are turned into sepulchers for the bur.al of greed and avarlee, and let us hope for the sake of suffering humanity that no angel of resurrection will ever unseal this tomb.

"Can these things be brought about? In the beginning of the struggle which gave separate nationality to the American colon.es our ancestors gave to the world declaration of independence that rang like bugle call through every land and awoke the slumbering spirit of liberty among every people. The descendants of these heroes and patriots are about to send forth another declaration of independence to all the nations of the world in fixing their own financial system and in legislating for the good and happiness of their own people.

After Colonel Young had finished his speech, which was received with frequent bursts of applause by the convention, Sen-ator Harris arose to introduce the permanent chairman. He made a short speech, explaining the object of the convention and the cail. It was strictly non-partisan and was called for one purpose only-to consider the rehabilitation of silver.

Senator Harris Introduces Turple.

"Democrats can be here in this conven-tion," said Mr. Harris, "without impairing in the slightest degree their allegiance to their party. So may populists and repub-Senator Harris then introduced Senator

Turple as permanent chairmen in the fol-lowing words: There is no more able or true bimetallist in the United States of America than David Turple, of Indiana."

Mr. Turple addressed the convention, in substance, as follows:

"Coined money has always been and yet is in itself a thing of value, and this value is of two kinds—the metallic or builton value and the monetary worth or legal value.

"The latter is always a matter of law—the bullion value is always one of estimation and opinion. The bullion value of silver and gold, here and elsewhere, has always rested and rests today upon one concertion; upon one continue. The properties. ception; upon one opinion; upon one single and simple item of belief—that as there lia-been in the ages past, so there will be in the years to come, no discovery of either of such metals which as to the quantity shall make them comparable in value with any other materials suitable for the use of man-

"There has always been a difference be tween the commercial or bullion value of the two metals, and the legal or coinage value. According to the test of the enemies of bimetallism, that the legal value of coined money must be the same as the commer cial or bull'on value of the metal in it, nothing could be more dishonest. Accord-ing to that testimony, there is not, and cannot be an honest dollar of either silver or gold.

"The use of silver or gold money has added very greatly to their commercial or bul-

"Although every friend of humanity rejoices in the destruction of exclusive gov-ernment ownership of the precious ores and their metals, yet there was one consequer which followed the private ownership the same much to be deplored.

The Greed of Gold.

"For a long time the equilibrium was maintained by law between the two meters, but at last the holders of gold, being the same as the holders of debt, in large quantities, especially national debt, succeeded in having the government interfere by law in this strife. They said we will not dispute any longer about relative values. any longer about relative values.

'Silver must be barred out. When we have killed silver for use in coin it will be worthless and less. We can buy and sell it at our own price, and the ratio will be an idle fiction of the past.

'The syndicate of gold is of no country. of no age or creed. Bimetallists are not against gold. We are for silver and for justice. Mush has been written on the stability of the value of gold and silver, concerning which it may be seld that both these metals are variable in value. Each these metals are variable in value. Each changes in value from time to time like bther commodities, but they vary in value infinitely less than any other commodity "It is said that if we restore silver to "It is said that if we restore silver to free coinage gold will leave us. This is asserted as a principle under what is called 'the Gresham law or rule,' which is that where two or more kinds of money are circulated together the inferior will drive out the better currency. This rule, save in very rare instances, has no application to coin. But what next in one cation to coin. Fut, what party in our country is seeking to debase its coin?

"The less of our gold, the departure of our gold, will, some opponents say, bring our gold, will, some opponents say, bring about depression. Yet gold staid with us from the beginning in usual quantities and proportion until 1873, when we ceased coining silver. From 1873 until 1878, while silver. ver was not coined, gold touched a low ebb. When, in 1878, we began to coin silver again, gold returned in lørger sums than ever and staid and increased with us. Since we ceased the coining of silver in 1893 nuring 1894 and 1895, sold has left us again.
The faith of the advocate of a single gold standard is compounded of one truth and one pernicious error. That coined standard dollars should be of equal legal value is true, but that the metal in them must be of equal value is a fallacy so contrary to our common sense and experience that it cannot be much aided by prophecies. "Let us as bimetallists remember that we are Americans, citizens of the great we are Americans, citizens of the great republic, dealing ealinly and deliberately with our own highest interests. Let us take counsel of fatth and hope. Let us go forth with manly hearts without fear, believing in all confidence that the silver and gold dollar of our mints, the money of the past, sound, tried and true, shall also be and remain the money of the fuso be and remain the money of the fu-

War Must Come. AN AMERICAN'S TROUBLE IN JAPAN

Congressman Mercer, on His Bridal Trip, Is Arrested for Jumping on the Platform of a Car.

Kioto, Japan, May 28, via Victoria, B. C., June 12.—Japan is eager for a fight with Russia single handed. The popular hatred of the ministry on account of the peace treaty revision, which threatened revolution, has been stifled for the present be cause of Russia's recent movements. The sentiment of "Japan against" the world" is so deeply planted in every Japanese breast that all internal differences are forgotten at the first snarl from a foreign Russia, instead of withdrawing her warships is increasing her forces both on land at Vladevosteck and at sea.

Moreover, her diplomatic representative n Cerea seems to have got closer to the corrupt members of the government of that country than the Japanese. Count Inouye, Japan's minister, has been the adviser of the Corean throne, attending all councils. Nevertheless Russia is said to have so influenced the Corean ruler that the king is prepared to cede to Russia the harbor at Port Lazaroft for the termi nus for the great Siberian railway. Russia has been planning many years for the pos ession of that port and now that Corea is independent she is believed to be in a position to acquire it. here is thought to be Japan's chance for retaliation. Japan does not believe other European powers will ally themselves with hissia and Japan is spoiling for a conflict. Even the ministers want it. Such a war would go far towards reinstating them in public favor. White Russia's movements are being closely watched, and Japan is preparing for the clash which every one believes must come, this country's nands are full in getting possession of Formosa and bringing her troops back from Manchester. Some 20,000 troops are now under sail for Formesa. The whole Japanese navy is going there.

Word comes by cable that the people of Formosa have refused to be turned over to Japan, Lave declared the island independent and have chosen as president Kung Kuk, who announces that he has one, hundred thousand armed volunteers prepared to prevent the landing of the Japanese troops. Great quantities of improved arms and ammunition are said to have been sent from China to Formosa.

The Japanese minister of war, Count Yamagata, said today: 'Japan has sent sufficient troops and naval vessels to take the island. There may be some snarp fighting, but the talk about a great Formosan army is nonsense. There will be just about the same sort of warfare as the United States troops had in quelling the In dian tribes of the western states. Every building was hung with flags because the people understood it to be the emperor's wish, and to the people the emerror is a deity. But even for the emperor Japanese people do not enover the results of the war. Popular feeling is yet bitter against the ministry. That was shown in a Japanese paper two days ago. There were other letters equally biting. The paper was suppressed the next day,

THE CHINESE LOAN.

Russia's Action Causes Results Little Expected by the Germans. London, June 12.—The Post will tomorrow publish a dispatch from Berlin stating that the question of a Chinese loan seems to have caused a marked divergence of cpinion between Russia and Germany. Acording to Germany's view Russia has executed a sudden and curious move in regard to Japanese evacuation of the Chinese mainland. China having engaged not to raise a further loan in six months, and raise a further loan in six months, and as she evidently cannot yet pay even the crisinal indemnity Japan will consequently centinue to occupy Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei until the whole indemnity shall have been paid. Japan will thus be compelled to look to Russia for counsel and guidance, which is a result that was never expected in Berlin when the action of Russia, Germany and France was arranged. The present danger is that the relations between Russia and Germany may become less cordial than ever.

The Daily News will publish tomorrow a Berlin dispatch of similar tener as The Berlin dispatch of similar tenor as The Post's telegram. It says the fact cannot be got over that Russia hoodwinked Ger-many while receiving a great service from her. The soreness over the matter is not concealed in German political circles.

No Decision Announced in the Trammell-Chapman Fight.

BOTH OF THEM BEFORE MILLER He Is Disgusted and Calls It a Teapot Tempest.

SMITH SAYS CHAPMAN MUST GO The Secretary Will Carry the Matter to the President of Carlisle Retuses

Washington, June 12 .- (Special.)-Another twenty-four hours have gone by and no action has been taken in the issue raised by Collector Trammell against Revenue Agent Chapman, Both Trammell' and Chapman had another audience with Commissioner Miller today and Assistant United States Attorney Rucker was also called in to testify to the activity and aggressiveness of Colonel Chapman and Deputy Collector Hetherington in working up the whitecap cases in Murray county.

Commissioner Miller declined tonight to go into details about the matter, but he impresses one as being thoroughly impatient and disgusted with the whole proceeding. "I haven't found anything to investigate yet," said he: "we might as well have had all this row over the dismissal of each one of the 2,500 storekeepers and gaugers in the service. Don't you agree with me?" he asked, appealing to Colonel W. W. Colquit, chief of the revenue agents, who sat

"I do, most emphatically," replied Colonel

Colquitt. The only statement the commissione would make was that nothing had yet been done and that neither the deputy collector, Wilson, nor the chief of revenue agents, Colquitt, had taken any hand whatever in the matter. One thing seems certain, so far as the developments up to date are cencerned, the commissioner appears, not to be impressed with the necessity of doing anything beyond trying to smooth down the ruffled features of the two principals Still, Trammell's friends are determined to get rid of Chapman, either by removal or transfer, and they declare they will not rest until they have accomplished their purpose Secretary Carlisle has already been appealed to and if the commissioner declines to act, the secretary will be asked to exercise his superior authority. Trammell has seen Carlisle and the latter, it is said, sides with him. Secretary Smith is actively interesting himself in Trammell's behalf. It was suggested at the treasury department this afternoon that perhaps the whole matter would be allowed to drop for the present and that after all the excitement had disappeared Chapman would be quietly removed or transferred. The intimation is also strongly thrown out by Secretary Smith's friends that Deputy Commissioner Wilson's officia life will be of brief duration.

A friend of Chapman's says that Tram mell discharged Hetherington for the single reason that he was too active in the prose cution of the whitecap cases and now seeks Chapman's transfer or removal for the same reason. Ogle's testimony last December will be readily recalled. The politics in suppressing the further prosecution of the whitecappers is too obvious to need exploi Trammell has ascertained since he has been here that he did not possess the complete power of removal he thought he did. While the deputy collectors all receive their commissions from him, those that are detailed by the department here for work in conjunction with the revenue agents are in reality appointees and under the direct order of the commissioner. Such, for instance, are Captain Cobb and Pod Dismuke. If Trammell had the power to remove Heth-Dismuke and Cobb if he had so desired From what can be learned here Trammell gave the commissioner no real reason for Hetherington's removal beyond the fact that he had other preferences. Nevertheappears to be on firm ground now, as far as the commissioner is concerned, there s no question about the fact that Secretary Smith is after his scalp and will go to any length to get it, even to the president himelf. And it is hardly likely that Mr. Cleveland would care to refuse a request from one of his cabinet officers. Therefore the indications point logically to the ultimate victory of Secretary Smith.

Springfield, O., June 12.—The state prohibition convention met at 9 o'clock this morning and the committee on permanent organization reported General Walter S. Payne, of Fostoria, ex-law partner of ex-Secretary Charles Foster, for permanent chairman. The platform was presented by the committee and it was decided to vote on each plank separately.

The first and second planks declared for prohibition and woman's suffrage were adopted. A long and tiresome debate fol-lowed on the financial question. The committee reported in favor of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. John Richards, of Hillsboro, offered as a substitute for the government national bank system that the government start banks and loan the people money on products, goods and land. A. B. There is an intimation here that perhaps Georgia will be honored with this appointment in the person of Congressman Lon Livingston. The people of Venezuela have testified to their warm appreciation of Colonel Livingston's efforts to induce Great Britain to arbitrate the boundary line dispute. Colonel Livingston is now in Venezuela.

The great drawback to the appointment of Livingston to this diplomatic port, which is worth $7,500, is that he is not a lawyer and the near future may require a United States minister at Caracas thoroughly posted on international law. Great Britain has possession of much of the territory along the Orinoco which is rich in gold fields, and has fortified the right bank of the river. The English government has as yet made no reply, so far us is known, to the request of the United States for arbitration, but it has replied to similar requests from Pope Leo XIII, and the international peace conference declaring that Great Britain owns the territory it has possession of and that there is nothing to arbitrate. If a similar reply is made to 'the United States, the state department will then have to determine whether England's fortification of the Orinoco is a violation of the Monroe doctrine. This it undoubtedly is and it will require a good lawyer and a clear head at Caracas. Hazelton excused his drinking habits while minister on the ground that the climate was such that no unacclimated 'citizen of the United States could live there without the constant application of cool and refreshing stimulants to his blood. If Colonel Livingston is appointed, therefore, it will be interesting to learn whether he can survive and maintain his present well-known abstemious habits. Senor Andrade, the Venezuelan minister here, says that a statue of Colonel Livingsten is to be erected in the public square at Caracas in commemoration of his stand for the Monroe doctrine. Colonel Livingston in heroic bronze ought of itself to go far toward the protection of Venezuela from the aggressions of England without other defenses.

Honor a Georgia Woman.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 12.—The committee on location of the next convention of the National League of Press Clubs today reported in favor of Buffalo, N. Y., and the report was adopted with cordial unanimity, New York entering a bid for the year after, through Joe Howard, Jr.

At the meeting today of the National League of Press Clubs Mr. John H. Fow, of Philadelphia, presented a résolution of Philadelphia, presented a resolution which was unanimously adopted directing the secretary to request the different state legislative bodies to pass a bill providing that before a suit shall be brought for the ublication of a libel in any newspaper he aggrieved party shall at least three days before filing or serving the complaint in such suit serve notice on the publisher or publishers of the said newspapers specifying the statements in the said article which they alleged to be defamatory. If it shall appear on the trial of said action that the said article was published in good faith, that its falsity was due to the mistake or misapprehension of the facts, and that a full and fair retraction of any statement therein alleged to be erroneous was published in the next regular issue of such newspaper or in case of daily papers within three days after such mistake or misapprehension was brought to the knowledge of such publisher or publishers, in as conspicuous a place and type in such newspaper as was the article complained of as Ibelous, then the piaintiff in such cases shall recover only actual damages. Provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to the case of any libel against any candidate for a public office in this state if the retraction of the charge is made editor, ally in a conspicuous manner at least three days before the election, in case such libeious article was published in a daily paper; if publishtin a weekly paper at least ten days before the election.

After the adoption of the resolution a days before filing or serving the election.

After the adoption of the resolution a committee was appointed to carry its provisions into effect.

The business of the convention was concluded with the selection of the next place of meeting and the election of officers and adjournment-sine die was taken.

Officers were elected for the year as proposed by the committee on nominations as follows:

as follows:
Vice presidents, Joseph Howard, of New York; John W. Kellar, of New York; General Felix Agnus, of Baltimore; Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon, of Georgia; John P. Ditman, of Reading, Pa.; William Alexander, of Boston.

BANKERS IN SESSION

They Discuss Financial Matters from the Standpoint of Professionals.

STATE BANKS MEET WITH FAVOR

G. Gunby Jorden, of Columbus, and J. H. Cabaniss, of Macon, Read Papers Which Treat the Subject on the Same Line.

Brunswick, Ga., June 12 .- (Special.)-The convention of Georgia bankers assembled in the Oglethorpe hotel parlors this morning with President Neal presiding, and a large number in attendance. After opening prayer Colonel W. E. Kay delivered an address of welcome, which was responded to by L. C. Hayne, of Augusta President Neal then delivered his annual ddress, which brought forth the unanimous thanks of the convention. The remittees reviewed the work done in having laws passed for protection and was well received, as were the reports of the secre tary and treasurer. Able papers were read by John H. Reynolds, of Rome, and H.

by John H. Reyholds, of Rome, and H. W. Reed, of Brunswick.

The addresses by G. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus, and J. W. Cabaniss, of Macon, on state banks were somewhat similar. Both, were in favor of state banks and suggested the following method for placing them and keeping them in operation: Repeal the 10 per cent tax on issue of state peal the 10 per cent tax on issue of state banks and enact such laws governing them as will make them safe all over the country, laws that will make the issue elastic responsive to the business demands of war country. The legal provisions advised to control the issue are that notes should not be over 50 per cent of the paid-up capital stock, except in extreme cases pression when an additional issue of 25 per cent should be allowed to be withdrawn from circulation when the emergency has passed. The security should be a lien on all the bank's assets, double liability of keep on hand for redemption of its bills 25 per cent of its circulation in gold. regular examiner should be appointed by the state to visit each bank four or five times yearly. A tax of 1 per cent per annum should be collected and deposited with the state as a furd for the redemption of the bills of failed banks. With currency thus guarded and restricted and each bank having a reserve agent in one of the great New York or other financial to redeem its bills, the curre any part of the country.

AN OLD-FASHIONED ROBBER. Tried To Do His Work with a Re-

volver-He Was Arrested.

Butte, Mont., June 12.—A desperate but unsuccessful attempt was made at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a lone robber to rob the Silver Bow National bank. The man refuses to give his name and has nothing on his person to identify him.

He walked into the bank when no one was in but a young clerk named Wi Thomas, and calling him to the cashler window, leveled a revolved at him and demanded the cash. Thomas instantly stepped down behind the counter, and seizing a revolver, began firing into the ceiling and the robber ran out of the bank Officer Ingraham, who arrived in time to see the robber run down the street and h gave chase. The robber turned and fire three times at Ingraham, one shot passis through his coat, but none of the other taking effect. The officer replied, but the shots also falled to take effect and the robber finally ran down an alley and was overtaken and arrested. He is about forty years of age and has the appearance of a professional robber. The Silver Bow bank is situated on the corner of Main and Granite streets, the principal thorough-fares of the town, and which are constantly crowded with people. For a time the bulplets were flying thick and fast, but

The secretary of the treasury spoke to you in this hall the other day. I do not want to quote Mr. Carlisle when he said that the demonetization of half the money in the world meant misery and unhappiness for half the people of the world. Then John G. But do not want to complain of Mr. Carlisle

I do not want to complain of Mr. Carnsie. Every word he said about the demonstration of silver has come true.

"It is impossible, under present conditions, for the American agriculturalist to ompete with those of India and the Argentine republic. You take your bushel of wheat to the Lenden market and you of wheat to the Lendon market and you get 50 cents for it. When you bring it here you have no more. When the Indian or the farmer from the Argentine takes his money home ne has 100 cents. Under the present system you are simply fostering the industries of other countries. This is ruinous competition for you. Mr. lisle told you when he was here that the wages of everybody had been increased der monometallism about 51 per It is not that way in my country. Fifty thousand coal miners in Ohio and Pennsylvania had 9 cents a ton taken off their wages about the day that Mr. Carlisle spoke to you here in Meniphis. Why, they tell you that wheat, out of which they make bread, was lower than it ever was and yet more people starved to death for the lack of this low-priced wheat than ever did before. They tell you that cotten ever did before. They tell you that cotton and wool are cheaper than they ever were, yet there is a greater army of tramps walk-ing up and down our highways and our byways today in tatters and rags for the

In certain parts of the west they tell him that what he needs to be prosperous is free trade. You have to give this tariff question as a medicine ording to the locality. Now, the fact the matter is the tariff has nothing to do with monetary panies and it is about time the people gave it a needed rest, I believe they are going to do it. T were two monetary panics under a high tariff and two under a low tariff and I think this shows that the tariff has noth ing to do with the case.

"The president says he is afraid the silver dollar will depreciate, but the only way the dollar can depreciate is for prices to rise. This is equivalent to an admission by the president that he is afrail prices will rise. If the president would divide his aixieties more equally between the persons who produce the wealth of the country and the limited few who absorb it, he would make a better who absorb it, he would make a better chief executive. The magnificent patriotism of Mr. Rothschild who, although an atten, was willing to come to this country and save it for the paltry consideration of $9,-300,000, which the people of the United States lost and which he gained, is worthy of note, as is also the magnificent patriotism of Mr. Cleveland in thus helping to save the try. But if two men could save the country they could also wreck it. "With the mints open to the unlimited coinage of silver and gold there will be no more talk of the 5-cent dollar. They say our shores would be flooded with silver if our shores would be flooded with the mints were open to free coinage. Now and if it were true, we that is not true, and if it were true, we would simply give them something they would rather have for something we would rather have.

"Banker Cornwall, of Buffalo, made speech in Chicago the other night to a lo of bankers, and the next day a reporte showed me the article and asked me what I thought of it. I told him if he would have a number of copies printed and distributed to all the voters in the United States, would never make another speech on the silver question, but would rest my case on his argument. He tells the bankers they must keep their thumbs on the customers. We have felt the thumbs of the bankers heavily in the last few years.

TO MEBT IN GRIFFIN. A State Silver Convention Called by

o'clock tomorrow.

the Spalding League. Griffin, Ga., June 12 .- (Special.)-President John J. Hunt, of the Spalding County Silver League, has issued a call for the state convention to be held July 18. The call reads more than party we will win the fight.

C. S. Thomas, of Colorado, then addressed the convention.

The convention then adjourned till 10

as follows: "Griffin, Ga., June 12, 1895-To the Friends of Free Coinage: The friends of free coinage believe the remedy for existing evils to restore silver to its place as primar; money, and to this end deem it advisable and necessary to meet in conference to gether. Suggestions come from different parts of the state that a convention to that purpose should be held. Following upon such suggestions the Spalding County Silver League passed a resolution to the effect 'that a state convention of the friends of the free coinage of silver in Georgia be held in Griffin on the 18th day of July, 1895, for the purpose of consultation and effecting such organization as may be deem ed necessary, and to take such other steps as may be deemed expedient in the interest of free coinage. The resolution further authorized and instructed the president of the league to prepare and publish at once a formal call in accordance with the resolution. Since the above was adopted, so fan as I can learn, it has met the approval of the friends of free schemes themselves the first of the friends of free schemes themselves the free schemes the scheme schemes the scheme schemes the scheme scheme schemes the scheme schemes the scheme scheme scheme schemes the scheme scheme scheme schemes the scheme sch the friends of free coinage throughout the state. In compliance with the above resolution, I now extend this invitation to all In sympathy with the movement to hold meet ings at once, organize and send delegates to meet in Griffin on the day named.

"I cannot assume to suggest or anticipate the action of the convention further than to say that it is expected that it will adopt such measures as will look to the recogni tion of silver as well as gold as money of map out the programme of proceedings, further than to say that speakers of emi-nence and ability and in whom the people have confidence will be present and address the convention.

"Griffin is centrally located, easy of access and has such railroad schedules as to enable visitors to arrive in the morning and de part in the evening without missing tife day's proceedings of the convention if they should not wish to remain longer. Arrange ments will be made for reduced fare on all railroads.
"In order that preparations may be made in the way of hotel accommodations, etc., it is desired that delegates and visitors who exepct to attend the convention will advise Mr. Douglass Glessner, secretary, of their intention to be present.

"The outlook is that the convention will a strong body of representative men thoroughly in accord with public sentiment "JOHN J. HUNT.
"President Spalding County Silver League

The Spalding league is growing daily. Setween 500 and 600 names are already on the lists, mostly all of them prominent business men and such men as would add weight to any question that they chose to take sides upon. If the present rate of growth is kept up until the time of the convention this county will show a bimetalic league composed of nearly four-fifths of its voting population. The prime movers in the matter are very enthusiastic over the showing they will make as well as over the prospect of a large and representa-tave gathering at the convention .

When seen this afternoon Judge Hunt spoke very encouragingly of the prospect for a large and successful meeting of the bimetallic element of the state and ex-pressed himself as fully satisfied that those present would represent the views of vast majority of the people. This call for a convention meets the hearty approval of the citizens of Griffin and Spalding county irrespective of their views upon the money question and all will labor to make league, Colonel Douglas Glessner, is moving ahead with arrangements for cheap trans-portation, entertainment and other neces-sary details. He has already received as-surances of attendance from prominent men in different sections of the state.

DID NOT GET A FAIR SHOW.

Silver Men Find the Chairman Against

Them All the Time. Philadelphia, Pa., June 12.—Philadelphia's free silver men, who have recently made large claims of their strength in this city, got together today at the office of Wharton Barker's paper, The American, and organized the Bimetallic Association, which, in the words of Mr. Barker, "will declare hostilities upon the sound money party. Exultant telegrams announcing the formation of the association were sent to the bimetallic convention at Memphis, and to United States Senator Jones, advising them of "a very important action in favor of bimetallism taken here today by an influen tial body of citizens already numbering sev eral hundred manufacturers, merchants professional men and wage earners, employ ed in mills and factories. The organizers of the movement includ-

a number of leading business men. There was a bitter struggle between the members of the Grocers and Importers' exchange this afternoon over that organization's attitude on the question as to whether gold or silver coinage should be adopted as the country's monetary basis.

At times the confusion became so intense that the meeting threatened to break up in disorder, but the timely counsel of the cooler heads prevented such an ending .

Charges and counter charges were made by the advocates of the two metals, and loud cries of "gag laws" were uttered as they saw the tide drifting hostily against them. The white metal men were vel with rage. They openly charged their op-ponents with dishonest methods in trying to put the organization on record as against free silver, and asked time and time again for the protection of the chair.

The rulings were in almost every case against them, and then they finally resorted, amid hisses, to appealing from the chair's decision.

At this juncture the chairman reminded the members that the question before the meeting was the consideration of the report of the committee of seven.

The report was a lengthy one, and it thoroughly opposed the remonetization of silver and urged that it would lead to a fall in prices, providing it had not already done so. Amidst much confusion the report was adopted by a vote of 88 to 39.

The Telegraph's Bilious Editorial Is Regarded as in Bad Taste.

THE ALDERMEN ARE DOING ALL RIGHT

Their Action Is Unanimously Approved by the People, Who Appreciate the City's Friends, Wherever They May Be,

Macon, Ga., June 12 .- (Special.) - Every body has been laughing today over The Telegraph's display of envy at The Constitution. On last Monday The Constitu tion published a rather elaborate write-up of the peach carnival which is to be held here next month. Mention had been frequently made in the news and editorial columns of The Constitution. The evidences of the unselfish interest taken in the movement by the south's greatest daily were appreciated by the liberal minded people of this city. Perhaps they were the more impressed because they see so little of the same spirit in the morning paper At all events Alderman Altmeyer introduced at a council meeting Tuesday night a resolution expressing the appreciation of the people of Macon for the kind mention and free advertising given to the peach carnival. Probably all the papers in the state have spoken pleasantly of the carnival. The Constitution, though, has given the carnival event such extended notice that The Constitution was named specifically in the resolutions, which were as follows:

"Whereas, The Atlanta Constitution, with its usual zeal in the welfare of every Georgia enterprise, has undertaken to publish tree an article setting forth the coming peach carnival to be held in this city, and "Whereas, The press of the north, east and west have been unusually liberal in their kindly notices of this important event, and our own papers have shown their great interest therein, be it "Resolved, That this council returns its thanks to the entire press of the country for their great work in advancing the interest of Macon by giving the world notice of our coming carnival."

The resolutions were adopted as stated

The resolutions were adopted as stated in this morning's Constitution. The specific mention of The Constitution was wormwood to The Telegraph, which came out this morning with the following vinta-grous editorial:

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE.

"The city council of Macon, through Alderman Altmeyez, at its meeting last night passed a resolution that should commend that body to the press of the United States and more particularly to the Atlanta newspaper which, under the resolution, is the one newspaper receiving special mention and commendation for its services to Macon and the Georgia peach carnival. The home newspapers might easily have been left out of Alderman Altmeyer's resolution on the principle that 'present company is always excepted.' In fact, had Alderman Altmeyer omitted his little playful peck at the 'home newspapers,' or had any member of the city council seen proper—and it would have been proper—to amend to strike out 'the home newspapers,' in the hope that Alderman Altmeyer might find room for at least one other special mention, The Telegraph—and, we venture to say, the other newspapers of Macon—would not have felt at all badly about it. Alderman Altmeyer deserves and will, no doubt, receive the thanks of the Atlanta newspaper, and we have no doubt that the board of aldermen will receive thousands of letters from the press of the United States thanking them individually and collectively for having so unanimously passed a resolution commending the Atlanta newspaper in particular and the press generally-including, by the way, the local press—for kind notices of the peach carnival. The newspapers who do not know of Alderman Altmeyer's modesty will no doubt ask for his photograph, so as to enable them to insert his face in their next 'kind notice of the peach carnival. The people of Macon will feel that Alderman Altmeyer bayed well his part, and richly deserves the laurels that he wears or will wear when the roll of honor is published in the Atlanta newspaper—with its usual zeal in the welfare of every Georgian—together with a free write-up of the Georgia peach carnival and a paid write-up of the Georgia peach carnival and he peach carnival and he has selected the Atlanta newspaper, of all thos grous editorial: CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE. east, the west and the south has sivel the most kindly and the most free write-up to the peach carnival, and he has selected the Atlanta newspaper; while the rest tag on behind in his estimation. In other words, Alderman Altmeyer, and through him the city council of Macon, has 'given credit where credit is due,' and if Alderman and Secretary Altmeyer is right in his summing up, we honor the alderman and the other aldermen for the broad spirit that enables them to pass over their home institutions in order to give the credit to Atlanta. But if Alderman Altmeyer is wrong, he has done an injustice to his brother aldermen, who trusted to him for the selection. Alderman Altmeyer does not conduct the advertising department of the peach carnival, neither, we presume, does the gentleman read many newspapers. We, for our part, are of the opinion that The Atlanta Journal, The Cordele Sentinel, The Hawkinsville Dispatch and News, The Savannah News and The Press, The Augusta Chronicle, Herald and News, The Columbus Enquirer-Sun. The Fort Valley Leader, The Alhany Herald, The Americus Times-Recorder and Herald, together with a large number of other papers, have done more than the Atlanta paper has done, and are willing to do their Alderman Altmeyer is a sterling, progres sive business man. He goes into everything calculated to build up this city with his whole heart. His fellow members of council are as thoroughly representative citizens as any set of men one could find. The people commend them in their action and feel ashamed of The Telegraph.

The aldermen do not feel badly at all. Everybody knows what it is that hurts The Telegraph. If Alderman Altmeyer and his associates on the board had one assurance today that the resolutions spoke for the people, they had a thousand. Doctors Adjourn.

The state medical examining board ha adjourned after being in session all yesterday at the Brown house. Those in attendance were Dr. A. A. Smith, of Hawkinsville, president; Dr. W. A. O'Daniel of Milledgeville, vice president; Dr. T. M. Ridley, of LaGrange, secretary, Dr. J. B. Baird, of Atlanta, and Dr. E. R. Anthony of LaGrange. There were eleven applicants two of whom were negroes, and it is under-stood they all stood a good examination. Among the applicants were Drs. J. Darkins Comer, W. J. Bell and W. E. Campbell, of Atlanta. The board was informed that several physicians in Macon were practicing without having registered their diplo-mas in the office of the clerk of the superior court as the law requires. Investigation showed, however, that the physicians had certificates of registration many years old, but by some oversight the clerk of the court had failed to register the diplomas. This was before the administration of the present clerk. The law passed at the last session of the legislature provides that any physician in practice prior to January 1, 1895, who has not registered his diploma, must stand an examination before state medical board before he can continue the practice or be allowed to register the diploma.

Will It Be Contested?

The Constitution's correspondent is formed today that it is possible that no legal fight will be made against the Southern's purchase of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, and the deal may be allowed to stand so far as opposition at Macon is concerned. Nothing positive and definite, however, can be stated on this point yet. There was a meeting in Baitt-more yesterday of the reorganization committee of the Georgia Southern and Florida sallroad at which the mortgage to secure $4,000,000 5 per cent gold bonds upon the line was executed and signed. It will be recorded in the states of Georgia and Flor recorded in the states of Georgia and Florida, through which the road runs. President M. Checkley Shaw, of the Georgia Southern, says that he does not know who the Southern will take charge of the Georgia Southern, but presumably within a few days.

Mr. J. L. Hand, one of the largest fruit growers in Southern Georgia, has issued a report giving a statement of the condition of the melon crop in that section of the state and estimates of the yield.

Mr. Hand has 485 acres of melons and expects to market 250 carloads. On account of the cold and wet spring, Mr. Hand says the south Georgia melon crop is ten days the south Georgia melon crop is ten days or two weeks later than usual, and shipments will not begin to move before June 20th or 25th.

Owing to the very serious losses sustained by melon growers last year on account of the strike, and the very unsatisfactory returns received, there is in south Georgia a marked decrease in the acreage, shown by the reports to be about as follows: Central railroad about we per cent, Plant system, 20 per cent; East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, 30 per cent; Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, 30 per cent.

The large increase in the Florida acreage per cent.

The large increase in the Florida acreage Mr. Hand says, will not materially affect the Georgia crop, as Florida melons are much smaller in size and do not have the flavor of a genuine Georgia melon.

The Atheneum will hold its last meeting for the season at Mr. William C. Singleton's on Friday-night. The members are to have a programme of "story telling," or anecdotes, and some excellent music, both vocal and instrumental. A new set of officers will also be elected for the ensuing year. City Clerk Bridges Smith has been granted a leave of absence for two or three weeks. He left this morning for Montreal and will return via eastern cities.

AFTER THE CASHIER,

Frank Cnningham Under Indictment for Violating the Banking Law.

Brunswick, Ga., June 12.-(Special.)-Th hottest legal light ever on in Glynn county commenced today in the case of the state vs. Frank E. Cunningham, exeashler of the defunct Brunswick State bank, a history of which failure appeared in Sunday's issue. Cunningham is now on trial under indictment for a violation of the charter of the bank in lending one individual more than 10 per cent of the capital stock. The court overruled the defendant's demurrer and he is now upon trial. Ten jurors have been secured out of seventy-six. The case is attracting wide spread interest, including the social world of Brunswick. The defendant occupied a high position here in both business and social circles, and was a member of several erganizations, including the Odd Fellows and Masons. There is a strong array of legal talent engaged on both sides.

Columbus, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The celebrated Elks Club case was disposed of in the superior court here today, the result being a victory for the club. The president of the club had been indicted for keeping open a tippling house on Sunday. The witnesses against him were mem-bers of the organization and they declined to testify on the grounds that their testimony would tend to criminate. They were sustained by Judge Butt and the state's attorney agreed to a verdict of acquittal. The cases against the Muscogee Club and Harmony Circle were then continued for

THE DAY IN ATHENS

Lucy Cobb Girls Go Home and Board of Visitors Arrive.

IT IS NOW THE UNIVERSITY'S TURN Before This Commencement Is Over Some Interesting Developments May Occur. Radical Recommendations Expected. Athens Ga June 12 - (Special.) - Everything was quiet today at Lucy Cobb, the young ladies having departed for their several homes this morning. The closing scenes of commencement were beautiful in the extreme. The address of Colonel Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, in delivering the medals was especially pleasing. His tribute to woman's work in journalism when he came to deliver the essay medal offereby Mr. Remsen Crawford, of The Constitution, was eloquent and enthusiastic.

The most striking feature of the evening was the farewell address of Miss Mildred Rutherford, the beloved principal of the in-stitute. Several months ago, on account of stitute. Several months ago, on account of failing health, she resigned her position and her sister, Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, was chosen her successor. This commencement com-pleted Miss Rutherford's eminent services as principal of Lucy Cobb institute and her farewell address was Estened to with mark-el attention. It had a tinge of sadness as she bade the graduating class goodby and gave them words of good advice. To the undergraduates Miss Rutherford made a few appropriate remarks and turned them over to Mrs. Lipscomb, who, she said, would do a better part by them than she could ever do. Then the students of the University of Georgia claimed Miss Rutherford's atten-Georgia claimed Miss Rutherford's atten-tion, and in a gentle but forcible manner, she gave a few of them some plain and sen-sible advice. For many years past Miss Rutherford from time to time has been greatly annoyed by the misenievous pranks of a few college boys, and to them she said last night that they should remember that only ladies live at Lucy Cobb and that they as gentlemen should choose rather to be their protectors than to be their tormentors. She did not hold the university re sponsible for the acts of these few students She had seen the conduct of students at Ox ford, Cambridge, Berlin and many other great universities and was proud to say that none of them compared in this respect to the University of Georgia and the Geor gia boys as a whole.

Miss Rutherford then reminded all the girls of the Lucy Cobb day at the exposi-tion in Atlanta. She wished November 29th, of this year, to be a gala day in the history of the institution. On that day a reunion is to be held in Atlanta and she desired to see there every teacher who had ever taught at Lucy Cobb, every graudate of the institute and every girl who had ever attended there. Miss Rutherford retires from the principalship of Lucy Cobb with the plaudits of every person who has ever had occasion to take notice of her work.

Mrs. Lipscomb, who succeeds her, is a lady of admirable character and of superb out several plans whereby Lucy Cobb will be kept fully up to the high standard of usefulness that has marked its history in the past.

The Board of Visitors. Lucy Cobb commencement being over, inerest naturally turns to the University of Georgia, whose commencement exercise open tomorrow.

The board of visitors appointed by Gove

ernor Atkinson are already here. They are Professor J. C. Harris, of Rome; M. J. Youmans, of Dawson; M. S. Weaver, of Lexington; L. C. Slade, of Columbus, and R. E. Parks, of Gainesville. Protessor Parks comes in the place of Professor A. I. Branham, of Brunswick, who was unable to be present. Professor Harris is chairman of the board and he and his co-workers are already down hard at work in the lines of investigation demanded of them. lines of investigation demanded of them

ers are already down hard at work in the lines of investigation demanded of them.

Trey have made a thorough study of the examination papers of the students and are well satisfied with them. They are convinced that the university is doing better work in the lines of study than ever before accomplished. They praise the protessors very highly for their work. But their investigation does not stop there. Under the recent act of the legislature their powers are very broad and they are going to investigate everything and every body connected with the university. The question of discipline and management, not only of the university, but of each department is receiving a rigid investigation.

Acting upon the idea that the students themselves, to a very large degree, are the best judges of a professor's work, they have had interviews with a number of students from each class on the subject. They also are talking freely among the citizens on this subject and gaining all the information possible to guide them in making up their report. It has not been given out and will not be until their report will contain some very radical recommendations and that it will occasion no small amount of interesting discussion.

Among other things the board of visitors will seek to solve the question of improving the literary societies of the university. This has for years been one of the most important questions before the faculty and the board of visitors will give a great deal of attention. They will remain here until after the commencement exercises.

The Exercises Open Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the commencement exercise of the University of Georgia open. The board of trustees will meet and start upon a session which promises to be full of interest. Dame Gossip has it that before this session is completed there will be some interesting developments in collegicates. Hon. N. J. Minus Their "Dips."

The law class of the university is in a stew this morning and the professors are not feeling well at all. It develops that the diplomas for the law class have not yet been completed, and that the probability is that the engraver will fail to get them to Athens in time for presentation Wednesday. He then delivered his annual baccalaureate address, which was fully up to the standard he has made for himself on these occasions. His sub-ject was "Christian Culture," which he handled in a very entertaining and instructive manner. He showed the folly and vanity of all living and learning without the support and aid of Christ. His parting words to the graduating class were both helpful and pathetic. President Candler is extremely popular with the students, and the senior classes are always loath to part with him. After the address he conferred the de-gree of bachelor of arts upon twenty-eight of the members of the class, bachelor of philosophy upon five and bachelor of science upon one, Mr. Fred Catchings, an Atlanta boy. The degree of master of arts was conferred upon Mr. J. Coachman

General Evans was seated upon the stage when the announcement was made, and the audience showed their approval and delight by a very hearty round of applause. The college year was then declared closed, and the benediction pronounced by Dr. Candler. The summer school of the cellege opens June 19th, and the fall term begins September 18th. The commencement exercises just closed have been unustally successful, and large crowds have attended every event of the occasion.

with universal satisfaction here, as does the re-election of Professor R. J. Gwaltney, assistant Aincipal.

There has been quite a change in the grading of the scaools. We now have an eighth grade proper, something that has been long desired in the school system. The creation of this grade with Professor Gwaltney as teacher carries a general pro otion all along down the grades.

The Augusta Southern Must Make a

Deal with the A. and S. Augusta, Ga., June 12.-(Special.)-When President R. M. Mitchell built his narrow gauge railroad to Sandersville, President Raoul, of the Central, granted the baby road the right of way over the Central into Augusta. The narrow gauge used one rail of the Central track and laid another between the two, making its narrow gauge track in this way over about 1,000 yards of the Central's roadbed. Recently the narrow gauge has changed become the Augusta Southern railroad, and is about to broaden its gauge and extend its lines so as to become a considerable competitor of the Central. Under this state of things the Central sought to revoke the use of its tracks by the Augusta Southern, also to enjoin the latter from broadening its gauge, and also from paralleling the Central railroad into Augusta. The case was recently argued before Judge Galloway, who today rendered his decision. The main points are these: "That the prayer of the plaintiff, that the Augusta Southern Railroad Company be enjoined from establishing, using or operating their road as a standard gauge road, be and the same is hereby refused. The operating of said road as a standard gauge road will not violate or conflict with the chartered rights of plaintiff. The Augusta Southern railroad has the right to continue to use and occupy said right-of-way with its present narrow gauge tracks until the happening of the condition named in said permission or until the termination of ease of the Augusta and Savannah Railwad Company by the Central Railroad and Banking Company.

"But I cannot see how this permission or license was broadened or extended further than that accepted and acted upon by the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville Railroad Company at the time, which was to build and operate a narrow gauge road. A railroad company might readily give up part of its right-of-way to a narrow gauge road without demanding compensation. when it would not be so gratuitous to a standard gauge road, one likely to become an actual competitor. Such seems to be this case.

"The Augusta Southern Railroad Com pany is enjoined from building or operating a broader standard gauge railroad upon the right-of-way of the Augusta and Sa-vannah Railroad Company until it has obtained title to the same by con-tract, lease or purchase, or has ob-tained license, permission or consent for such use from the Augusta and Savannah Railroad Company and such other sons and corporations as may have an terest in said right-of-way or until it shall acquire the right-of-way by proceedings to condemn the same as provided by

The decision is partly in favor of both sides, and is a sort of legal degfall. It will be appealed at once for review by the supreme court.

Fulton's Preliminary Hearing Set for This Afternoon.

PATHETIC SCENE IN THE COURTROOM

His Wife and Children in Need of Help. He Says That He Is Not a Criminal, but Is Simply Unfortunate.

In the courtroom of Judge Broyles, the United States commissioner, a pathetic scene was enacted yesterday afternoon.

The room was crowded with spectators, nearly all of them witnesses who had been summoned to testify in the case of the States against J. E. Fulton, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes and with laying the foundation for more extensive fraudulent operations hereafter.

In the midst of this group of faces gathered in the courtroom and forming a marked contrast, in the delicate features of her troubled countenance, to the rougher and more somber complexion of the lookers on, sat a lady heavily dressed in black and with tears standing in her large, lustrous eyes.

The picture is not overdrawn, for both in form and feature the lady in black answered to the most rigid definition of beauty. By her side sat two little children one of them a boy apparently eight or nine years old and the other a little girl not more than three or four years old. Their resemblance to the mother was obvious, but the light that played in their faces was strikingly at variance with the look of sadness that seemed to be crystallized in her tearful face. They failed to comprehend the significance of the trial and thought it great fun to be in such a

With his head slightly inclined and apparently in a brown study the defendant occupied a seat in the neighborhood of his wife and children.

District Attorney Joe James, Mr. Hamilton Douglas and Postoffice Detective Tom Jones were present to look after the side of the government since the case, originally brought in the state courts, had been transferred to the federal jurisdiction From a simple case of cheating and swindling it was changed to one of using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

The defendant was represented by Messrs, James F. O'Neill and Peter F.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when the case was called yesterday afternoon.

Two or three witnesses were introduced for the government, after which Mr. O'Neill asked that the further hearing of the case be postponed until this afternoon. He stated that he was not fully prepared to go on with the case and desired to further legal preparations in behalf of his client. Solicitor James opposed the motion as the government was ready to proceed and had gathered all its witnesses for the purpose of going on with the preliminary hearing.

Commissioner Broyles thought the de Commissioner Broyles thought the defendant was entitled to a fair opportunity to make out his defense and decided to give him the benefit of such leniency as lay within the court's discretion.

Accordingly the further hearing of the case was postponed until this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FOR DUNCAN'S LIFE

The Motion for a New Trial To Be Heard Before Judge Marcus Beck.

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED NEXT WEEK

The Gentry Boys Have Not Been Heard from by Sheriff Barnes-He Will Send for Them if Captured.

The life of Adolphus Duncan hangs by a thread. His chances rest solely, unless there is executive elemency, upon the outcome of the motion for a new trial, which will be heard tomorrow.

The notice of this motion for the new trial was given just after he was sentenced to hang several months ago. For the purpose of hearing this motion Judge Marcus W. Beck will arrive in Atlanta tonight, and tomorrow morning the case will be argued before him, as he presided during the recent trial for Duncan's life.

The attorneys for Duncan are preparing to make a hard fight. They claim that there are many things which should give him another chance to prove his innocence, and that the former verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence.

There is yet a chance that Duncan will escape the gallows. It was nearly a year ago that the crime for which he has been sentenced to give his life was done. Mrs. Sanner, a woman well known, was on her way to her home just outside the northern city limits. She had been working all day in the dressmaking business, and that night had been kept rather late. It was about 9 o'clock when she left the terminus of the car line and started home. On her way there was a grove of trees through which she was forced to pass, and it was here that she was assaulted by a negro man. The negro held an open knife in his hand and in the struggle the woman was cut in and in the struggle the woman was cut in several places. Her screams finally caused him to nee, and the alarm was given. The county officers with hounds secured the whole country. The brother of the unfortunate woman entered on the search cetermined to find the negro.

There was a band of roving musicians in the neighborhood, and there was strong evidence to show that one of these, who was pointed out to the enraged brother, was the man who made the attack on Ars. Sanner. As soon as the brother caught sight of the man the brother fired, and the ball entered the negro's side. The latter ran, but after a long chase was captured, and at midnight brought to Atlanta, where he was confined until his preliminary hear-

Last November his trial was held before Judge Clarke, Mrs. Sanner stated on the stand that she positively indentified Dun-can as the man who attempted the outrage. The trial continued for several days, after which a verdict of guilty without recom-mendation was brought in, and the man was sentenced to hang in February. The case was appealed to the supreme court, and the order of the lower court was reversed. The case was tried again some weeks ago, Judge Marcus Beck presiding. Colonel W. C. Gienn made a strong fight for the negro, but again the verdict of guilty came in, and again he was sentenced to be

This time the day of his death was fixed for June 21st. But there comes the motion for the new trial, and it may be that the case will go to the jury again.

Unless this motion is granted tomorrow week, the little red gallows will be erected and Adolphus Duncan swung up until dead. To Send for Gentry. If the Gentry-boys have been captured the office of the sheriff has received no notice to that effect, and the officials are inclined not to believe the reports which come from the west as to their thrilling capture there.

Asbury Gentry was reported to be in the Doolan gang, some members of which were captured in Guthrie, O. T.

This gang is one of the most desperate in that section, and during the last few menths had committed innumerable crimes of a daring nature. Some of the gang were surrounded in a cave in the Glass mount-ains, and after a hand-to-hand fight all

There is $700 reward standing for Asbury. and if he is caught an officer will be sent out at once with papers to bring him back to Georgia. He is under sentence to be hanged, and if he is brought back this sentence will not be long delayed. It was on the 1st of January, 1893, that Gentry, with several other prisoners, ran over a guard in the Fulton county jail and made their escape. Since then he has been at large, and repeated efforts have been made for his capture.

"If that man is captured," said Deputy Mike Blount yesterday afternoon, "you can count that he will be brought right back here to Georgia. There never was a more heartless villian. Look at his picture here. We had them taken the week after he left here. His face is one of the werst I have

"For the last two years there have been reports spread that Gentry has been cap-tured. I don't believe it."

Gates, the Prophet, Released. Gates, the prophet, is no longer confined in Fulton county jail. He was released yesterday by an order from Ordinary Calhoun. This specimen of the genus lunatic has been an inmate of the jail for nearly a year. Frequent application for his admittance to the state asylum has been made, but the crowded condition of that place made it impossible for him to be received.

His long confinement has benefited his mind, however, and it is thought that he is no longer dangerous. Gates first came into notice by trying to sever the head of Patrolman Petty with an ax. Petty got the drop and sent a ball into his arm.

Two other lunatics who have been in the jail for some months will be sent to the asylum this morning.

Granted the Injunction.

A permanent injunction was issued yesterday by Judge Lumpkin against the South Atlanta Land Company and the Atlanta Electric Railway Company. This grows cut of the trouble which occurred recently in South Atlanta when the electric line tried to tear up the track leading to Lucile park. Application for injunctions was made by both parties. They were granted tempora-rily, and it was not until the order of Judge Lumpkin came yesterday that the permanent injunction comes on.

It was a most creditable showing that the troops of these two crack regiments of Georgia militia made. Colonel William E. Jones, of the Sixth regiment, was in command. He and his staff presented a picture so familiar to that made by the officers of the regular army that it took most discriminating eye to assert that the troops were not regulars. For tifteen minutes the work on the parade grounds progressed, and as the troops marched off, the commanding officer and the members of his staff were more than pleased with the excellent showing.

While the present encampment opened on Monday, work really did not begin until this morning. Tuesday morning the mar-tial step of the Sixth regiment, which is composed of companies from Augusta, Washington, Waynesboro and Sandersville, pressed the camp grounds at 5:30 o'clock in the morning. All of these companies reach-ed Griffin on the same train, except Company A, which comes from Washington, Wilkes county. Three of the companies composing this regiment are from Augusta, and left that city Monday night at 11:15 Central railroad and at points along the line picked up the other companies.

The Third is composed of companies from Central Validations and at points along the line picked up the other companies.

The Third is composed of companies from Conyers, Madison, Greenesboro, Athens, Elberton and two from Rome, and is commanded by Colonel R. U. Thomason.

as they are written. Lieutenant Brown, however, may congratulate himself that he has such able support as will be given him by Colonel Jones and by Colonel Thornason. Both of these gentlemen believe in discipline and both have pledged themselves to do all in their power to make this encampment as successful as any the state has ever had. Colonel Jones, commandant of the camp, is a trained soldier. He passed through the Virginia Military institute at Lexington. Va., and subsequently secured a diploma from one of the finest military schools in Germany. He is one of the leading citizens of Waynesboro, where he is engaged in the mercantile, fertilizer and cotton seed of Waynesboro. becoming colonel of the Sixth he was cap-tain of the Burke Troop, Fifth Georgia cavairy, and under his management the company had a most successful career. The Sixth is divided into two battalions, of which the lieutenant colonel is Richard D. Caliaway, of Washington, Ga. The First battalion is under command of Major Shewmake, of Augusta, and is composed of Companies C, D and F. All three of these companies are from Augusta. Company C is commanded by Captain W. W. This battalion is camped on the hillside immediately in front of the post headquar-ters, while just below it the Second battalion is tented.

The sixth may well be called one of the best equipped and most soldierly regiments in the service of the state.

The Third regiment is composed of the flower of north Georgia, and if the roster. of the state were searched it is doubtful whether a better colonel could be found than R. U. Thomason. There are many who think they observe a striking resem-blance between him and Napoleon. R. G. Gwinn is the Heurenant colonel, and he, like the colonel, is extremely popular with

The first dress parade of the encampment was held yesterday afternoon and was witnessed by a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen. Among the number were many from Atlanta, Macon, Forsyth and Barnesville, and it was a pleasant tableau the soldiers presented as they went through the evolutions. It was not a per-fect dress parade but so near perfect that none of the civilians who were looking on detected any of the errors that were made. Considering the fact that it was the first dress parade of the encampment, the work could not be too highly complimented. The dress parade this afternoon was better. It lasted for fifty-five minutes and the marching, counter marching and all the move-

Though in camp less than forty-eight hours, the boys are beginning to take kindly to soldier life. They are ready and anxious to respond to any call made upon them. There is hardly an idle minute for them. There is hardly an idle minute for them during the day. At 4:30 in the morn ing there is reveille, and then up to 8 o'clock every minute is put in at hard work. One of the most impressive scenes of the noon. Just as the rear guard was marching off the parade ground, the cannon echoed across the hollows and the national flag, which had been flying at the

BEAUTIFY OAKLAND

Big Improvements To Be Put in the Cemetery by the Sexton.

WALKS AND DRIVES TO BE ARRANGED

The Sanitary Board To Take Up the Question of Removing Negro Faupers. Some Changes in Licenses.

Oakland cemetery will soon be a place of insurpassed beauty. Work has been begun there and plans for great improvements

City Sexton Clayton engaged a force of hands yesterday and teday the work of grading and placing down the brick walks will begin. The recent appropriation by the city council gives for this purpose $3,-(00) and the expenditure of this will make vast changes in the cemetery. Twenty carloads of chert have already been received and this is now being hauled to the grounds, where it will be put down in the roadbeds and walks. The drive circle which the sexton has in view will be deturesque according to the present plans.

will extend about the whole length of the graveyard, paved all the way with the chert. This readbed will be eighteen feet wide. There has been an order placed for 100,000 brick, which will be put down as walks within the next week.

These changes have been contemplated for some years and have been baily needed, but the councils have not appeared to take interest in the matter until the present committee on the cemetery took charge and Mr. Clayton began his work. He has been pushing on energetically and is enthusiastic over the work in Fand.

"I shall do everything in my power," he said yesterday afternoon, "to make the place one of the most beautiful spots about the city. There are a great many changes yet needed about Oakland, but these will come in time. What we have so long need-ed is this paved drive which we are now going to put down. It will take us some weeks, I suppose to finish up the work, but when it is finished there will be a great change in the appearance of the place. I shall rush the work as rapidly as possible.

To Move the Negro Panpers. The eight acres of negro paupers which have been the source of so much discus-sion recently will be taken up by the sanitary board at its meeting next Friday and upon the action of this board will deand upon the action of this board will depend the whole question.

This proposition has been acted upon by the council and committees. It has been agreed by all that this will be the best method of disposing of the pauper dead, that is, by removing them to South-view, which has been especially prepared for that purpose. There are about 5,000 bodies to be removed and it will be a work of huse undertaking but in the end will of huge undertaking, but in the end will be of material advantage to the city, as the sale of the lots from this ground will et the city at least $40,000. The action of the sanitary board will be watched with great interest.

Changes in the Taxes.

Clerk Park Woodward was quite busy esterday revising the tax ordinance as dopted by the council for the purpose of abilication. Several in portant changes in the question of licenses were made by the council at their meeting Tuesday afternoon.

All licenses that were formerly sold at $20 have been raised to $25. This will mean a great increase in revenue to the city. The real estate men are in big luck. Heretofore they have paid $100, but the action of the city council will require them tion of the city council will require them hereafter to put up only $25. The license of architectsh as been reduced from $50 to $25 and dealers in pistols and guns will have to pay $75, while heretofore they have teen charged $100.

The man who solicits will be charged $25 and for every company or firm outside f his own house he is connected with an Several other miror changes were made.

For the First Day. Yesterday was the first day that the discount of  $11_2$  per cent on taxes paid in by the city council was allowed. This discount will remain until the amount collected reaches $100.000. Taxes paid in yesterday amounted to

A Characteristic Bleat.

The city council of Macon, upon the motion of Alderman Altmayer, passed resolutions on Muesday thanking The Constitution for friendly work already done and projected. For this evidence of esteem The Constitution is duly appreciative. It has been the controlling spirit of The Constitution to work for Georgia and Georgians; for every city in the state, and for every man in every city whose shoulder was put to the wheel of progress.

The fact that the newspaper which should speak for Macon takes exception to the council's action need not trouble anybody. Macon is too progressive a city to be corralled within the narrow confines which such a paper would mark out for it. The gentlemen of the city council of Macon are wide awake and progressive. Headed by such men as Horne, Altmayer, Finley and others, that body has no need to fear the feather darts of a newspaper which cannot rise to the dignity which should characterize it.

The Constitution, as the leading newspaper of Georgia, is proud of Macon and her people. The city holds an honorable place in the history of the state, and the gentlemen who are now in the lead of public and commercial affairs there are Georgians worthy the admiration and confidence of not their own constituents alone, but of all their fellow citizens throughout the state. . It would be well for every city in Georgia did it have such a mayor as Horne, and such wide-awake aldermen as: Altmayer. No city, in the United States possesses a more effective public leader than George W. Duncan. It is from such men that we must learn the true character of Macon, and not from the dyspeptic bleats of a newspaper which mistakes its high mission.

A Prophet and His "Split."

The fact that some amiable and convenient Goose has rushed into print to nominate Mr. William C: Whitney for president seems to have disturbed that great man. Although the suggestion of the amiable Goose was in no wise dangerous, or contagious, or in the least likely to give rise to a political epidemic, Mr. Whitney has taken the trouble to pull his trolley off the wire and tie it gently but firmly to the dashboard Having done this, he ups and remarks in the sweet tenor voice that has been heard many a time and oft in the gilded halls of Chicago, Ill., and Albany, N. Y., that "if the silver men carry the next democratic national convention, it would split the party in two."

The conservatism of this remrk does justice to Mr. Whitney's powers of observation and the logic of a mind disciplined by travel. It will be noted that he does not say the party will be cut in half. He is careful to remark that it "will be cut in two." He does not even venture to tell us what would happen If a goldbug disciple of Shylock were to be nominated by the democratic national convention. Simply contents himself with the suggestion that if an hon est man and a genuine democrat is nom inated for president by the demograts the "party will be cut in two."

That there will be a considerable sloughing of elements that have at tached themselves to the democratic party for the purpose of forwrding the interests of rings, combinations, monop olies and the like, we have no sort of doubt; but so far from regarding this as a misfortune or as a matter to be regretted, we think it is absolutely necessary for the health of the organization Parties frequently stand in needs of some such applications and precautions that are sometimes resorted to by communities. Political sanitation is not only wholesome, but necessary, and the democratic party would be in a better condition today if it had established a pesthouse long ago for the benefit of those who contract undemocratic ideas.

Since Mr. Whitney has taken his trolley off and hid his trolley key under the seat, we should like to have a few words with him and those whom he is supposed to represent. Did it ever occur to him that if the democratic party puts in nomination a candidate who is not pledged by his record to the independent and unlimited coinage of silver, the organization will be something worse than split in two? Did the fact ever reach the seat of his powerful intelligence that there is not in all this broad land one honest and genuine democrat who is in favor of gold monometallism-and that there is not a sensible man to be found anywhere who believes in international bimetallism?

As a student of passing events, Mr.

Whitney should endeavor to take these matters into consideration. In the old folk-lore story the tail of the dog, when it was cut off, yelled aloud that the dog was killed, but it came to pass that the dog survived and caught dozens of rabbits that very season near the place where the bones of the tail lay bleaching. Something of the sort may occur when the democratic convention nominates a genuine democrat in 1896. Fortunately, all sensible democrats know precisely what to expect. They have been put on notice. They have been forewarned. They have been told by other men as influential as Mr. Whitney that if the little handful of goldbugs cannot control the convention they will bolt the nomination. But bonest men cannot swallow their convictions on that ecount. They are fully prepared to meet the emergency. They do not ask men who are not democrats to indorse free coinage. They do not ask men who are not democrats to support demeratic principles.

The threat in Mr. Whitney's remark eases to be a threat when it is brought to the ears of men who are democrats because they believe in democratic principles.

Mr. Whitney Takes a Bath.

A few men in the south who have swapped their democratic convictions for John Sherman's financial views in consideration of a substantial slice of federal patronage or the prospect of it, have been trying to delude the democratic voters with the idea that they are not advocating the British gold standard, but that they are only opposed o independent free coinage by the United States because they believe that there is a probability of an international agreement.

This has been the policy of goldbugism ever since the discussion began. Twelve months ago it was impossible to find a democrat even at the north or east who would admit that he was in favor of the single gold standard. The whole brood of gold monometallists pretended to be in favor of international bimetallism. But there has been a sud den and remarkable change of tune since. Mr. Cleveland has clearly defined his attitude and announced to the brethren that hereafter the fight must be made for "sound" money-gold alone being the only sound money. Following the president's initiative, the Wall and William Streets Reform Club has begun a campaign against the people's interests, on money furnished by the gold dealers and owners.

Mr. William C. Whitney, who has been out of the country for several months, and, therefore, somewhat out of touch with the leaders who are managed by the money power, returned to his native land a fortnight or more ago and was immediately questioned by a newspaper reporter in regard to his financial views. Mr. Whitney had no time to hold a caucus or conference with anybody, and he supposed, of course, that his brethren and intimates on this side the water were still hiding behind the sham of international bimetallism. Therefore, the reporter hardly had time to ask Mr. Whitney a question before he proceeded to dilate, with a volubility all his own, on the lovely prospects of international bimetallism. According to his views England was just wild on the subject, and all the United States had to do was to wait until after dinner and they would find the whole thing arranged to suit them.

Mr. Whitney had the best intentions in the world. He winked at the reporter the sleeve of his cabin wrapper. Nevertheless, his remarks created consternation in Wall and William streets, and the cry went up, "Is this gifted man about to betray us?" Horace White was shocked. Uncle Tommy Hitchcock, who pilots The New York Sun's' office cat through the breakers of finance, relieved his overburdened mind by writ ing a column and a half of Wall street baseball news under the catchy title of "Coin and Credits." - Even The New York Tribune saw once more the horrible and moldy ghost of the "Peril of the Nation," and said so in language taken right out of Willie Winter's "Dictionary of Adjectives and Synonyms." In short, Mr. William C. Whitney was promptly taken behind the scenes, furnished with a new pair of gold eyeglasses and given plainly to understand that, among men entirely great, things are not what they seem. He was dressed up and dressed down, and when the lesson was over, he came out of his British bath a truly contrite man. For decency's sake, he waited a few days, and then called in a convenient reporter After the reporter had bowed and made indifferent remarks about the weather, Mr. Whitney placed in his hands the prepared report of an interview, in which, among other things, he

We had this same experience in another the ills of the country, and that spread throughout the whole country, and both parties were obliged to take some sort of a parties were obliged to take some sor stand on the matter, but finally the sense of the people asserted itself and we haven't heard much of greenbackism since I think the people will eventually treat this question just the same as they did the greenback question. They want sound money now just as much as they did then.

Horace White, who is himself very much behind the scenes, and who is as zealous in the cause of goldbugism as any hired man could be, remarks on the foregoing, with a touch of irony that is almost delightful, that he is "not surprised that a little greater familiarity with the subject has apparently caused' Mr. Whitney "to abandon or greatly modify" his views in regard to international bimetallism. "He is how for sound money," says Horace White with as much unction as if he were welcoming a new convert to goldbugism; "not a word does he say about bimetallism of any description." And what Horace White says is true in this instance-the truth from that source being so rare that we hasten to put it on record before the shifty man can recant it. Mr. Whitney says nothing about bimetallism of any description. He bas been taken into the back parlor of a bank and disciplined. He has been told that Wall street and its agents have determined to throw off all disguises and to stand for what they represent-the single gold standard which Shylock has invented for the purpose of robbing the people. We might say to Mr. Whitney that he distorts facts when he compares the greenback movement to the free coinage of silver. One was for an increase of the paper currency and the other is to increase the volume of hard moneythe money of final payment. We might go further and say to him that the greenback movement would have won if it had not been scotched by the very men who are now in favor of the fre coinage of silver, and who compelled the agents of Wall street to give the people the measure of relief embodied in the Bland-Allison act-a measure which, inadequate as it was, had the effect of preventing a disastrous fall in prices.

But it is not our purpose to go into the matter at this time. We desire only to call attention to Mr. Whitney's sudden change of attitude with respect to international bimetallism and to inquire how long the cuckoo and postmaster organs in this section propose to keep up the sham. As Horace White very tersely puts it, the idea of international bimetallism with England behind it "is so preposterous to any one familiar with the tone of English thought on this class of questions, that the expectation of any support from England, we make bold to say, discredits the intelligence of any man who holds it."

For once The Constitution finds itself in perfect accord with Shylock's chief intellectual prodigy.

The Question of Railroad Rates.

The railroads are in a position to make or break the exposition.

They came near breaking the world's fair by the experiment of high rates, and only saved it by heavy reductions after two months of failure.

This experience points the way to wise action in the present instance.

The general passenger agents now in session in this city, representing the territory of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, control the rates on 25,000 miles of road, traversing the richest and most progressive part of the southern states. This territory will contribute the bulk of attendance on the Cotton States and International exposition. Visitors will come from every state in the union, and thousands will come from points beyond the Mississippi, the Ohio and the Potomac, but two-thirds or more of the whole attendance will be contributed by the country tributary to the lines here represented.

Among the lines represented many are noted for the broad and liberal policy by which they have built up the sec tions lying along their lines. These roads have the opportunity of a life time in this exposition. It is not only the business of the exposition period which is to be considered-there is overwhelming evidence that the tide of immigration is turning southward, and the exposition is an opportunity snatched from fate for the upbuilding of this section.

Knowing the character of the men who manage the great corporations, we are confident that they will be equal to the emergency, and will formulate a scale of rates which will be eminently satisfactory to the public. Should they fail in this they fake upon themselves the responsibility for the failure of the greatest enterprise ever inaugurated in this the most richly endowed country on the face of the globe.

A Brilliant Young Georgian. The news of the death of Dr. Alexander Pope, which occurred vesterday morning in New York, brings deep sor row to many friends in Georgia.

Dr. Pope was a young Georgian who had won for himself an enviable place in New York. He was a native of Washington, Wilkes county, and a member of one of Georgia's most promi nent families. After graduation at the University of Georgia he went to the University of Virginia and upon com pleting his course there entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons. New York, where he took a high stand. He spent a year and a half in Bellevue hospital, and then began the practice of medicine in New York.

He was one of the young southerners who are fast forging to the front in the. professional and business life of the metropolis. His death cuts short a career of great promise.

Watch It Grow. It was part of the programme of Josiah Patterson's Memphis convention that the worshipers of gold should go out and proclaim unto the world that the "silver movement had reached its height" and decadence had set in. It is an old game and there is a tra dition that some time in the early history of the republic it worked. The idea was, of course, to influence people on the fence to jump off on the gold side. If, however, there was ever any likelihood of its having the effect desired in this day and generation, that has been entirely eliminated by recent events.

The fact is, even the newspapers of New York, which, as a rule, have no conception of what is going on in this country outside of their immediate environments, are beginning to realize that there is a financial problem and that the people are thinking about it. Outside papers which have shown a disposition to belittle the free silver movement have, with the exception of a few cuckoo sheets, come to the conclusion that the time has arrived when they must try and find something better than sneers for arguments. Their readers demand it. Their readers want the facts, too, about the progress of the movement. The reports of the big silver meeting at New Orleans Monday night shows that different methods employed in the treatment of news events by the papers While those tied by leading strings to the administration tried to make it appear a small and insignificant affair, The Picayune, a consistent advocate of the single gold standard, said of it: No more lucid or forcible demonstration of the profound interest that is taken in the discussions over the financial problem as to which should obtain, a single gold standard or a bimetalike standard maintaining a parity between gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, could be imagined or of-fered than the immense attendance that tested the capacity of Washington Atillery hall last evening at what had come to be commonly known as the "silver convention." It certainly was one of the grand-est indoor gatherings that ever came to-gether in this city. There were representative people from every section of the state, irrespective of political creed. There were prominent citizens whose sentiments on the money question are profoundly opposite to those for whose advancement and dissemination last night's meeting had been called. It was known that two recognized leaders of the bimetallic idea were to ex-haustively and comprehensively set forth all the arguments, theories and reasons that they have to advance in favor and support of their cause; it was known that some of the master minds of the nation had wrestled with the problem for years and as a result of their profound study and re-search are divided upon the subject, and not a few are at sea as to the better solu-tion of it; and, as a natural consequence, intelligent men and women who are desirous of hearing all that has to be said on both sides of this all-important ques-tion availed themselves of this opportunity of becoming conversant with the silver phase, or double standard. The oppressively sultry weather did not affect these auditors. There was scarcely a breath of air in the densety packed auditorium, save that created by the oscillations of the that created by the oscillations of the fluttering fans of the fair ladies, who blushingly bowed their acknowledgments of the many pretty compliments that were bestowed upon them by the different speakers; but it was the evident intention of every one present to disregard the temperature. That crowd had come to hear all that was to be said by the two distinguished speakers, and there was no noticeable diminution to it un til these gentlemen had finished:

The estimates placed on that crowd were from 2,500 to 5,000. Proportionilly large crowds have been attending he meetings of silver men throughout Mississippi Alabama and Tennessee. The people are thinking. Instead of at its height, when Josiah and his cohorts met, the silver movement was just in its infancy.

Watch it grow.

The time is past when either a fool or a gudgeon can be caught by the "internation al agreement" dodge.

Mr. Bertram Currie, the leading British banker, says that bimetallism is not to the interest of his class, There is a good deal of truth in the remark.

Goldbug headquarters are now at 62 Wallyum street. The people have no headquarters and no subsidy fund. Mr. Whitney thinks "the Memphis convention has helped the cause along." so it has. It has shown the people the nature of the element behind the goldbug move ment. Mr. Whitney returned from Irone, Drope and Usia a rampant bimetaflist, but when he took a bath and breakfasted with a man from 52 Wallyum street, he strutted forth a goldbug. 'Twas ever thus. "Can it be possible," cries a cuckoo, "that the democratic party will commit itself to free silver?" By no means, demented sir. The party has already committed itself to the free coinage of silver. Harcourt has written a letter to "My dear Bertram Currie," declaring that the British government will never commit itself to bimetallism. "My dear Bertram Currie" is the leading banker of the city of London. Again we hear that Yoslah Splutteration is campaigning around. He is evidently one of the "prominent southern statesmen secured" by the goldbug reform club at $2 Wallyum street.

Spartay Ishmaelite: The Terrell, Tex., Times-Star calls attention to the fact that when Carlisle, in his Memphis speech, had occasion to refer to the southern people he would say "you," but when speaking of the northern people he would say "we." of course, Didn't he demand that the "iron-clad oath" should be administered to him when he was first elected speaker of the house? And isn't he now the retained attorney of the gold ring? He has neither part nor lot with the southern people. He is an alien and an enemy.

LaGrange Graphic: And so some of our

No man in free America eyer towers so tall that it is presumption to criticise his utterances. The intrinsic value of a speech is not who says it, but the speech itself.

THE GEORGIA FRUIT CROP.

Gwinnett Herald: There is very little Gwinnett Herald: There is very little clear money in cotton at even 7 cents, if we count the cost of production. Take the cost of an acre of cotton, the average yield being one-third of a bale per acre, the value of this will be a portion over 8, counting the seed at about 89. After deducting the value of the fertilizers used to make this crop, and deducting the expense of planting, cultivating, gathering and putting it on the market leaves the farmer a very small margin. The fruit crop costs nothing but the gathering and marketing. All we receive is nearly net profit.

High Prices vs. Low Prices.

From The Jackson, Ga., Argus, Figures wont lie, and this table shows how high prices are better than low-ones for the farmer, merchant and laborer, but low prices are better for noarded money and money lenders: FARMER UNDER HIGH PRICES. . $675 (0) Total.

In favor of high prices for one week....$1 $5 The above table shows that the farmprofit under the double or joint stand ard would be $229 to pay on his old debts, and under the single or so-called sound money standard, would be only $95. The nerchant's profit on a one-horse farm would be $21 more on the high price policy, and the laborer's profit would be $1 per week more on the high price idea. We do not mention everything, but what we do men-tion bears the same proportion that it would should we mention everything. In the merchant's case he would even do bet-ter than the table shows, for he would sell nearly twice as many goods. be $21 more on the high price policy, and sell nearly twice as many goods, whereas sell nearly twice as many goods, whereas we counted it the same.

If anybody should demand more money in circulation it should be the merchants. When it comes to money lenders and idle non-producers, the thing reverses. They can loan all their money at a high rate of interest, and it will buy just twice as much of the necessities of life, and, of course, bondholders, coupon elippers and money lenders want a contracted currency.

Hatred of Foreigners.

Leadon, June 12.—A dispatch to The Globe from Shanghai says the feeling against foreigners is rapidly increasing in central China and has reached a critical related by Vinnae.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

A sorrier looking turnout than one which picked its way along Whitehall street the other day has never come from the home of widowhood or poverty. A jaded and sprained mule with stiff and knotty limbs and thin sides toiled painfully along, grawing behind him a battered, ramshackle old buggy that seemed to have stood the service of many years. The harness was tied together in many place and seemed in momentary peril of coming to pieces again. The old buggy tottered along as if it might collapse at any moment. A patient looking woman, in a faded poke bonnet and a homespun dress sat in the frail vehicle and guided the wavering steps of the worn-out mule.

Suddenly the mule stopped, and one of the shafts dropped down-a piece of the harness had broken. The poor woman gazed at the wreck with calamity written in her face. For a full minute she surveyed it without moving, and then looked around for some friendly face. The sidewalk was crowded with people, and the street was full, but all were hurrying on, and no one paid the slightest amention to the wonan. Slowly she began to descend from her seat.

Just at this moment a passing carriage halted and a gentleman alighted. He spoke to the woman in a kindly tone and offered to assist her. She gratefully ac-cepted the offer and stood by almost tremwhile he worked away repairing the broken harness. It was a hard job and took quite a while. But the gentleman who had proffered his services was determined, and as he worked he got down on his knees that he might get at it better. Pinally it was completed, and the gentleman stepped into his carriage and drove on. A man who was passing noticed the al-

A man who was passing noticed the almost tearful gratitude of the poor woman as the carriage drove away, and stepping up to her he said:
"Do you know who that was that fixed your harness?

The woman shook her head. That was the governor of the state-Bill

Atkinson!" The woman was too greatly astonished to make any reply, and as she continued her way down Whitehall street she was so occupied with her wondering thoughts that she came near calliding with a number of vehicles that she passed.

The friends of Messrs. Lowry Arnold and Quill Orme have begun to classify alligator stories and eagle stories with the proverbial fish story, of imaginary construction.
"Where did I get this tan?" asked Lowry Down off the Georgia coast. I've been down there a week alligator shooting and fishing. It was a picnic snooting alli-gators, I shot so many I lost count of them. It's fine sport. Sitting in our loat we could see an alligator swimming along, nothing but his head's out of the water. All we had to do was to plunk a bullet into his cranium and go get him. But you've got to hustle to get to him in time. He sicks around a little, and if you don't corble quick order he'll sink andyou can't get hini.

"We shot eagles, too. I killed two as fine birds as ever winged the atmosphere. One of them measured six feet from tip to tip, and he was a beauty. It's the greatest sport in the world."

Colonel P. Breitenstein, of St. Louis, follows the elevating occupation of tossing the ball. Colonel Breitenstein visited this city in March, and spent a few days here culturing his arm. Those of our local sport-ing contingent who were treated to the extreme felicity of looking upon the great man from St. Louis, saw a small young fellow with a light-colored head, a small figure and not a very impressive appearance. No one would ever select Colonel Breitenstein for a great man, even in a small audience. Yet the Associated Press of yesterday says that Colonel Breitenstein has gone up high in the scale of values, so that the New York Baseball Club offered St. Louis $10,000 for the privilege of paying the young man a large salary. New York wants Colonel Breiten-stein, and wants him bad. Just now he is one of the important men of the nation. He comes high. Hen. Judaon Harmon, who was called to Washington on the same day that New York was trying to buy Colonel Breitenstein for $10,600, will get a salary of $8,000 a year. On that day the salary of a principal teacher in Atlanta's most import-ant school was cut down to $1,500 a year. if there's any moral in this it is-Learn to toss the ball.

"So would you if you were if my base. Last night I went home, and as I was hot and tired, I decided to take a cold bath just before I went to bed, and so about II o'clock I went in and turned on the water. Somehow, as the water commenced to fill the tub, I got cooler, and sat on the edge of the tub for ten minutes, at least, shiv-ering and thinking about the shock the first plunge would give. Finally I sorter spread myself out like a bird under full way and went into the tub like a ton of brick, having decided to get the first plunge over with as soon as possible. Well, sir, the water splashed in every direction, and I howled like an Indian, and the landlady and haif of the boarders rushed -up and tried to break into the bathroom, under the impres sion that I was being murdered, and so I was, for I had failed to feel the water, and it was boiling hot. As a result, I nearly scalded to death, and for ten min-utes hopped around the bathroom on one leg at a time and cursed so at every jump that a preacher in the house told the landlady this morning he would have to change his place of residence. "I put oil all over me, and none of the skin has come off yet, but I'm as tender as a boiled lobster, and can hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I reckon you'd be touchy, too, if you had been boiled alive, wouldn't you?"

EXPOSITION RATES.

The General Passenger Agents All Favor Cheap Tickets to the Fair.

ONLY DIFFER AS TO RELATIVE DISTANCES

Meeting of the Rate Committee Yesterday at the Aragon-Other News of the Railroa .

Passenger rates to the Cotton States and International exposition were not determined by the rate committee of the Southern States Passenger Association yesterday, which held its meeting at the Aragon, The question will probably be taken up again today, when it is thought by prom nent members of the committee that the matter will be permanently decided. The special committee appointed at the last meeting to report on rates to the ex position made report to the general committee yesterday. This subcommittee consisted of the general passenger agents of

This committee held a meeting day before yesterday and spent several hours discuss ing the subject before the members and was ready to make a report yesterday, that was taken up with promptness and dispatch.

There were several hitches encountered, however, and after a lengthy discussion of the matter the members of the rate committee decided to delay action on this important question until all the lines inter ested could be heard from. The issue will be taken up today and will be discussed in its details by the general passen agents of the roads represented. It is thought that the committee will come to a is said by those in position to know that the rate will be altogether satisfactory to the exposition promoters and to the vast crwods that will want to attend the big fair in Atlanta.

"It is not about the cheapness of the rate that we differed today," remarked one of mittee yesterday to The Constitution, "but only about a question of limitations as to distance. All of the general passenger agents of the roads entering Atlanta want to have a cheap rate, and what I am par ticularly glad to see is that they want to put the cheap rate on in the very outset and keep it on all the time the exposition is in progress. You will remember this is the mistake the railroads entering Chicago made-not giving their cheapest rate at the Well, it will be different with the Atlanta roads. They will put on a very cheap rate in the outset and hold to it.

in the outset and hold to it.

"There seems to be no difference of opinion as to this proposition among the members of the passenger rate committee and all of the men seem to want the rate to be as low as it can possibly be made for the roads to see their way clear out of the extra service they will have to put on.

"It certainly would be graffying to the records and restrictions to the recorders of people and particularly to the promoters of the exposition to see how liberal minded the passenger agents are on this question. They are all determined to do whatever they possibly can to aid and encourage the great undertaking Atlanta has assumed and I am sure no complaint will be made on the rate as finally agreed upon by the commit-

Rates for Various Distances.

It is understood that the members of the rate committee are disputing only as to the wisdom of certain grades of rates that are to be offered by the roads to the exposi-

There will be a rate for a radius of fifty files around on all the initial lines. This fill be very low. Then there will be a rate for distances of a hundred and a hundred and fifty miles.

Another grade of rates will be allowed for distances of from two to three hundred miles, and so forth.

It was upon these differentials and not upon the general proposition of extremely low rates that the members of the rate committee spent most of the session yes-

In this way it is easy to predict that their action today will be along the line of liber-ality and it is more than probable that the lines will all join in giving the people of the southern section very low rates to the great exposition of 1825, allowing them a great opportunity to come to Alianta and see the grandest fair ever before dreamed

The railroads all realize that the exposi-tion is going to prove a powerful factor in their own upbuilding and they will not hesitate to join hands with the promoter

The Pooling of Mileage.

The only other question that was taken up yesterday by the rate committee of the passenger association was the question involving the joint issue of five-thousand-mile tickets to drummers of the south.

This is an old topic and has been before the rate committee at previous meetings.

It comes up now in the shape of a petition on behalf of the local division of the Travelers' Protective Association, asking that some such arrangement be made. The drummers want to secure a book good over all the lines of the south at reduced rates. They say this will avoid a vast deal of inconvenience on the part of the traveling salesmen who are constant patrons of the salesmen who are constant patrons of the railroads. They ciaim that the matter has been favorably acted upon by railroads of other sections and they set up strong claims why some such arrangement should be made in this region.

On the other hand, the railroad men declare that there is necessarily a good deal of inconvenience to the railroads in making such an arrangement. They say that all the voucher they could possibly have for mileage torn from the book would be the ticket itself torn out by the conductor. If this should never reach the auditor's office the road would have no data for account, Railroads usually want something to taily with what the conductor brings in from d to day in making his report in order to

AROUND THE CITY HOTELS.

There was a jolly party of South Carolinians at the Aragon yesterday at dinner. They were the force of workers who have been busily engaged for the past few months selling the Encyclopaedia Britannica in conjunction with subscriptions to The Columbia State, the well-known news-paper at Columbia, S. C. There were two dozen of them and they had come to At-lanta for the purpose of having a good time. The trip was given them by the Encyclopaedia branch of The State's busines office and they were here for the purpose of seeing the sights and enjoying their visit. They went to the exposition grounds and spent most of the day. Returning they had their pictures taken in a group and then sat down to a delightful dinner at the Aragon.

It was a matter of general regret among them that business engagements prevented the attendance of the president of The State Publishing Company, Mr. A. E. Gonzales, but in his absence his friend, Mr. F. W. Shumaker, occupied the head of the table Mr. I. S. Octall, whose name has adorned.

Mr. J. N. Odell, whose name has adorned the many checks which the field work of the banqueters had made necessary, sat directly opposite. Besides these gentlemen, there were present the field manager, Mr. Stranhal, and Messrs. C. W. Perry, W. F. Fleming, Hal D. Tracy, E. C. Warner, W. Westmoreland, Charles Duly, C. L. Layden, Westmoreland, Charles Puly, C. E. Layden, S. E. Tayler, D. D. Wilson, M. E. Power, J. G. Henley, A. J. Caldwell, C. C. Warner, W. T. Gibson, A. D. Carter, C. B. Whid-den, F. F. Duncan, A. L. ### THE POLICE PICNIC.

It Was a Successful Affair, Netting the Police a Neat Sum.

The police picule at Indian Spring yester-day was an entire success in every way, and was a thoroughly enjoyable affair. The special train carrying the large crowd which went down left the union depot about 8 o'clock and returned at about the same hour last night.

The day was passed in dancing and other pleasant amusements, and everything passed off in a most delightful manner. The Police Relief Association will net about $300 clear on the picnic, which will reatly aid in carry on the work of the as-Sociation.

Only one incident of an unpleasant nature occurred during the entire day, and it did not happen near the picnic grounds. An unknown man insulted the wife of one of the patrolmen, and the latter flogged the man in short order.

GETTING TOGETHER.

Out Their Dissensions.

OIL IS POURED ON TROUBLED WATERS

Prospects Bright for a Firmer Basis of Or ganization Than Ever Known in the History of the Association.

Giants of the railway clans of the south crossed their legs under the mahogany of the Waldorf hotel in New York yesterday, and from all accounts made themselves both happy and harmonious.

This was the meeting predicted by all railroad men to be the scene of muddles and multitudinous mixings, but with the opposing factions of the southern railroad world have met, smiled and made

At least this is reported to be the outcome of the first day's session. If any threat crossed the deliberations of the hitherto inharmonious railroaders yesterday, and the hope was prevalent on all sides that all differences had been forgotten and all that ought to be forgiven had been forgiven. With this auspicious beginning the railroad men of the south will get down to business and be in session in New York all the week.

There are many indications of better times for the railroads in this movement towards friendliness all round.

Vice President St. John, of the Scaboard, is attending the meeting and has been placed on the special committee looking t a better understanding of all difference The Queen and Crescent is also taking a lively hand in the meeting. It is believed that through Mr. Henry Fink, receiver of the Norfolk and Western, this line, which has strayed out of the association for the past year, will one more come back.

They are all back in spirit and all that remains to be done is to get articles of agreement that will be satisfactory to everybody, or as nearly so as possible. The following dispatch from the meeting sent by The Constitution's special corre spondent, gives the routine of yesterday's

New York, June 12 .- (Special.)-The twenty-first annual convention of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association met at the Hotel Walderf today.

In the absence of Colonel J. W. Thomas president, Mr. R. G. Erwin, vice president of the Plant system of railways, was elected chairman of the convention. A full attendance of the railway and steamship lines who are members of the association was reported.

of the association but who refused to sign the agreement and have had more or less friction with the association during the past year, namely, the Seaboard Air-Line, the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company and the Cincinnati Southern railway, also had their officiais in attendance upon the meeting.

It is claimed that the meeting was the most harmonious one held since the en forcement of the interstate commerce law making the pooling of freight illegal, and that all former personal differences be tween the large number of officials pres ent were either forgotten or entirely is unforescen snag is struck in the immediate future a larger and stronger freigh upon an agreement satisfactory to every transportation line will be organized in thern states for the ensuing year With a view to this end the association appointed a committee consisting of R. They Are Getting Together. The committee is considered a most repre sentative one, being composed of officials from both large and small lines, and also from the lines of the west, the east, the extreme south and southeast and the coastwise steamship lines. Any contract recommended by the committee will be satisfactory to every south-ern transportation line. Members of the committee refuse to express opinions as to what probable changes will be made in the present agreement but all of them interviewed express the opinion that no line will get exactly what it wants, but that each individual member will probably have to make some small concessions for the ### Old Officers Will Hold Over.

The election of officers for the ensuing year does not take place until after the new contract is completed. It is universally conceded, however, that E. B. Stahl man, commissioner, and the present corps of officials will be re-elected without a dissenting vote. There has been some talk of opposition to Major Stahlman in case he offered for re-election, but the con-sensus of opinion today was that such a large majority of the members prefer him that any attempt to elect any other man ceed him would meet with bur little Poolrooms Not in Connection with a Hotel Required To Close at 10. H. O. Varnadoe and Bob Stevenson were ined $5.75 each by Acting Police Recorder Alderman Harralson yesterday for run ning a poolroom after 10 o'clock.

Varnadoe and Stevenson took out hotel license so that they could keep their poolroom open until 12 o'clock, the law giving hotels that privilege, but investigation by the police disclosed that they did not run a hotel, but had taken out hotel lice to evade the 10 o'clock poolroom closing

It is said that there are a number of poolrooms in the city running on the same scheme and this case was in the nature of a test case, and its decision will probably have the effect of closing several rooms at 10 o'clock which have been running until 12 o'clock at night under a hotel

Alderman Harralson, who was presiding over the police court in the absence of Judge Calhoun, announced that the prac-tice which had grown up must be stopped and that poolrooms not in connection with a hotel will have to be closed at 10 o'clock

An order to that effect will probably be issued by Chief Connolly at an early date.

FOR MAIL ROBBERY.

Two Young Men in the Station House A Party of Picnickers Give Officer for Procuring a Letter.

WILL HAVE TO MAKE EXPLANATIONS

They Are Charged by an Aged Man with Having Fraudulently Secured a Letter with Money in It from the Postoffice.

A. J. Hooker, a young white man about nineteen years of age, a painter by trade, was arrested and lodged in the station house by Sergeant Ball and Patrolman Taylor last night, charged with conspiracy to rob the United States mails, and later Henry Burns, charged with the same crime, was caught.

The charge against them was made by Mr. E. B. Price, of the Atlanta postoffice, and the crime alleged to have been committed by Hooker or his associate, Henry Burns is a novel and unusually bold one.

He Wanted To Register It. thought to be Henry Burns, a friend of Hooker's, walked into Mr. Price's office at the custom house and said that he had just mailed a letter in the postoffice, which upon reflection he had decided to forward by registered mail and he wanted Mr. Price to go to the box and get the letter and return

The young man gave Mr. Price a description of the letter, giving the name and address on the envelope he wished returned to

It has for some time been a custom and not an unusual occurrence for persons to call for letters malled for one reason or another, and this request of the man did not appear ti Mr. Price to be irregular, nor did he have any suspicions about the mat-ter at that time. Mr. Price took the young man with him across the mailing room of the postoffice to the drop letter boxes and there began looking for the letter described by the young man. The search went through many dozen letters and pieces of mail matter, until finally the young man saw in the package in Mr. Price's hands the letter he wanted.

The address and condition of the letter being exactly as described the postal clerk handed it to the young man, who thanked him for his courtesy and leisurely left the

Asked for the Same Letter. Shortly after the disappearance of the young man Mr. Price was again requested to return a letter that had just been mailed, this request being made on the same grounds as had the previous one—the writer desired to register it.

Mr. Price asked his visitor, who was an elderly man named J. E. Chappel, an egg and chicken peddler from north Georgia, to describe the letter he wanted, and when Mr. Chappel gave a description of a letter identical with the one Mr. Price had only young man mentioned he was dumbfounded realizing at once that one or the other of the two men were defrauders.

He Boarded with Hooker.

Mr. Price informed his visitor that he had just delivered the letter to another party, and from his statement of the lacts Mr. Chappel's suspicions were at once aroused against A. J. Hooker and his friend Henry Burns, he telling Mr. Price that he himself had written the letter and in the presence of Hooker had placed about $15 in Chappel boards with Hooker's mother, Chappel boards with Hooker's mother, who resides at No. 30 West Peters street, when he is in the city, and it was there that Chappel counted out the money at dinner time and wrote the letter which he addressed to a relative at or near Resuca. At the same time he got Hooker to do some calculating for him and after the two had eaten dinner they came up town together for the purpose of mailing the letter. On the way to town Mr. Chappel suggested that he had better send the letter by registered mail, but he was dissuaded from doing so by his companion, Hocker, who assured him that the mails were safe and that the letter would go through all right without being registered.

Was Going to a Pienic.

According to the story told by Chappel, Hooker left him on the corner of Marietta and Broad streets just after his letter had been mailed, Hooker telling Chappel named Henry Burns. These circumstances at once decided i Chappel's mind that Hooker had got his letter and the money, and he took steps to have Hooker arrested, which was done at about 10:30 o'clock last night, when he returned to his home on Peters street.

ciding to have the letter registered after he had left Hooker, he going back to the postoffice and calling for it in the manner stated, only to learn that the letter had already been given out. Knowing that no one else knew who his letter was addressed to he became positive that Hooker or his friend Burns had called for and re-Protests His Innocence.

The government officers and police were at once notified of the affair and a diligent search was at once instituted for * Hooker and Burns, resulting in their ar-house last night they strongly denied that they had procured the letter and protested their innocence of any crime connected

Price was sent for and when he reached police headquarters at about it o'clock, said that Hooker was not the young man to whom he delivered the letter, but that he would prefer a charge of conspiracy against him in order that Hook-er might be held until this morning, when the case will be investigated by Postoffice Inspector Jones. Mr. Price felt confident that Hooker was connected with the case as an accessory, he and the officers believing that Hooker and his friend Burns conspired to get the letter and money in

Locked Up on the Charge, Hocker was detained in the station house keeper's office for an hour previous arrival of Mr. Price, but was locked up on the charge named later. A description of Burns was read to the morning watch at 12 o'clock and he was caught at half-past 1 this morning.

The charge against the two young mer it, a long term in the penitentiary will be the result.

Wildauer a Severe Tilt.

FREE A PRISONER HE HAD ARRESTED

The Officer Had Been Guarding the Peace at a Picnic, and Had Succeeded Very Well.

Patrolman Wildauer, of the city police force, came near getting a severe beating during a small sized riot which occurred at the Simpson street railroad crossing at 6 o'clock last night.

The riot was the result of a fight which took place on the train that brought the German Lutheran church pienickers to the city from Iceville, where they had been spending the day.

Officer Wildauer was detailed to attend the picnic to preserve order and he performed his duty quite successfully until the party of picnickers had boarded the train to return to the city. The day at Iceville passed quietly and without the slightest disturbance. When the train left leville and was rapidly approaching the city, Emmet Finney, one of the pienickers, and another man got into a personal difficulty and it is said that Finney gave his antagonist a slash with his knife, making antagonist a slash with his knife, making a wound about an inch long on the man's left cheek. Officer Wildauer was on the rear coach of the train during the fight and by the time he reached the baggage car, where the difficult occurred, the participants had been separated and order restored. Finney was pointed out to the officer as the man who did the cutting, but when approached by the policeman he denied having anything to do with the fight. He was arrested, however, but made a show of resistance until the authormade a show of resistance until the authority of the officer was shown him, after which he quieted down and agreed to remain in custody without resistance.

In the meantime the train had reached the city and was almost at a standstill at Simpson street, when Finney suddenly jerked loose from Officer Wildauer and made a break for his liberty, jumping from the train and starting off up Simpson street in a run. The officer was not to be so easily outdone, however, and he followed Finney with alacrity, overtaking him at the corner of the street a few yards from the train. The two grappled and fell and a lively fight ensued, lasting for what seemed to the policeman to be an almost indefinite time. Finney succeeded in get-ting his hand on the officer's throat and endeavored to choke his antagonist and did so to a dangerous extent. The two were rolling and tighting, each trying to subdue the other, the officer blowing his whistle and calling for help and Finney calling on his friends in the crowd which had collected to come to his assistance.

Refore the fight had progressed many Before the fight had progressed many Before the fight had progressed many minutes a crowd of two or three hundred people had collected and were interested spectators of the scuffle. According to the account of the affair given by Officer Wildauer last night, he was unable to get any of those present to come to his assistance, his whistle calls and cries' for help having failed to bring other officers to the scene. After the fight had progressed for at least ten minutes, Wildauer says 'Tom Gaul, Will Ozburn and a dozen other friends of Finney, who were on the train, friends of Finney, who were on the train, came to the latter's rescue and the entire crowd began beeting the patrolman, taking Finney away from him and allowing him to escape. The officer was pretty badly bruised up about the head and neck.

After Finney had been released from the officer's grasp by Gaul and Ozburn and others, Wildauer then grappled with his assailants, having another desperate fight, this time with Will Ozburn, whom he final-

THE CASE OF SMITH

The Detectives Give Up Their Search at the Lake.

THE OFFICERS SEARCH THE COUNTRY

There Is a Wealth of Clews, but All Have Proved Futile So Far-Various Opinions Prevail.

There were no new developments yesteray in the mysterious disappearance of J. . Smith, the private banker who has been ssing for more than two weeks, despite he most diligent search possible by online police and detective force and e enterprising newspaper reporters of At-

The search for the body of Smith, which has been made in the old waterworks lake during the present week under the direction of Detectives Cason, Wooten and Loo ney, was discontinued yesterday morning for some reason not satisfactorily explain ed by the officers. It was thought, however, that they had some reason to suspect that Smith was elsewhere, leaving the water search to run down a new clue. It is known that the detectives passed the day somewhere in the country, in what locality they de-clined to divuige, but according to Detectives Cason and Wooten rothing new was discovered by the change of base.

The usual number of new clews were discovered and prosecuted during the day, but from what could be learned absolutely but from what could be learned absolutely nothing has been discovered that will lead to the fliding of Smith or his body.

The opinions of the officers as to his whereabouts differ, some thinking that Smith has been murdered, others that he has simply skipped the city with a large sum of money belonging to the bank with sum of money belonging to the bank with whom he did business.

Detectives Cason and Wooten returned to the station house about 8 o'clock last night from their day's search, both soaking wet and tired out. They admitted having been in the country all the afternoon searching for Smith, but declined to speak when asked what particular clew they were

Detective Cason is still of the opinion that Smith was murlered and he is bend-ing all of his efforts to find the deal body of the man rather than to discover Smith

While the officers declined to say any thing, it was evident from their manner of speech that they were on some new that seemed hopeful of solving the rystery.

The search at the lake will be resumed today should the clew being followed by the officers yesterlay and last night prove fruitless. The lake has been almost entirely gone over by Captain Screho and his ssistants, and if the work is resumed will not require any great length of time to complete it. * Should no trace of Smith be found at the lake or by the present principal clew, the detectives and searchers will keep up their efforts in some other direction, there being an unlimited number of suggestions and explanations as to Smith's where-abouts and the causes of his disappear-Photographs and descriptions of Smith have been sent over the entire country and he is being looked out for by the police and other officers of all the large cities in the United States, Few people believe, however, that Smith, dead or alive, is many miles away from Atlanta.

Atlanta.

The strange lisappearance of Smith is still the subject of comment and many people are unable to understand why no trace of him can be found, the entire rescurces of the police department having been exercised in the search.

There may be a sudden ending of the affair at any time, which, however, according to the knowing ones, is not probable.

OUT ON A RAID.

United States Marshals Use Their Ammunition on One Another.

Richmond, Va., June 12.—A Floyd Court-couse, Va., special to The Dispatch says; "United States Deputy Marshal Wilson, of Christianslurg, was shot by Deputy Marshal E. L. Stephens, of Martinsville, last night about midnight. The bail from a pistol passed through Wilson's leg just below the knee, striking the bone, but not breaking it. It is claimed that the shootwas not intentional. It seems that ison and Stephens were gether in Russell's barroom. Wilson went out at the back door and came around to the front door, when Stephens fired through the door, striking Wilson as stated above. These officers, with others, came here yesterday from a raid on Snooting Creek, in Patrick county, where they de stroyed four distilleries, 4,000 gallons of

BAXTER-MADDOX.

A Brilliant Wedding at Nashville Attended by Many Atlantians.

MISS BAXTER BECON'ES MRS. MADDOX

Bishop Galloway, of Mississippi, Per'orms the Ceremony in the Presence of a Large Number of Friends.

Nashville, Tenn., June 12 .- (Special.)-There was a wedding here tonight which united two of the most prominent families in the south. It was the marriage of Mr. Robert Foster Maddox, of Atlanta, and Miss Lollie Lavender Baxter, of this city, The wedding has been the theme of allabsorbing interest for weeks. It is not surprising that it should be, for it was the nandsomest thing of the kind seen here years. The prominence and wealth of both families were amply represented in the arrangements and details of the affair.

Miss Lollie Lavender Baxter is younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Bax-Younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art bester. She has seen only one season in society and from the standpoint of a young lady whose debut is a thing of the past in that brief time she has become immensean that orier time she has become immense-ly popular. The announcement of her wed-ding was received with a genuine regret by Nashville's smartest set. The wedding was highly fashionable as a June wedding and a white wedding. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in McKendec church by Bishop Galloway, of Mississippi, church by Bishop Galloway, of Mississippi, assisted by Rev. R. K. Brown. The church was packed with the most distinguished gathering in a social way that has ever assembled in this city. The decorations were superb and consisted of palms and masses of fine cut flowers. The bride was dressed in white satin trimmed with duchesse lace and point lace. She wore orange blossoms and illies of the valley and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a superb diamond tiara, a present from the groom. The bridesmaids were gowned in white organdie. The maid of honor was Miss Grey McLaughlin, who carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of American Beauty roses.

The ushers were Messrs. Ossie Walsh, Whiteford Cele, Frenk Forg, Edwin Gardner, Robert Rains, Edwin Warner, Ira Eurns and Matt Buckner. Mr. Frank Orme, of Atlanta, was best man, and the groomsmen were Alex Hunter, W. H. Washington, John Walker Imman, Thomas Jackson Peeples, Mr. Block of Atlanta, Mr. John Little of Columbus, Richard Plater and John M. Slaton of Atlanta. The bridesmalds were Misses Ervin Baxter, Margaret Shook, Isebelle Wilson, Milched Williams, Mary Bass, Louise Maddin, Elizabeth Bransford and Josephine Imman,

Elizabeth Bransford and Josephine Imman, of Atlanta. Miss Baxter entered with her father, Miss McLaughlin entering alone. After the wedding there was a reception

After the wedding there was a reception at the residence of the bride's father, to which 200 invitations were issued. The Pouse was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Maddox received under a large floral bell. At 11 o'clock the wedding party left on a special train for Louisville, when they will go to New York and there to Europe where they will spend. Louisville, when they will go to New York and thence to Europe, where they will spend several months, returning in October. They will tren be at home at 183 Peachtree street. A large party came up from Atlanta to the wedding on a special train. In the party were Colonel R. F. Maddox, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Inman, Mrs. Alexander, aunt of the groom, Thomas Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGhee, John Berry, Mr. Frank Orme, Miss Josephine Inman, John Walker Inman, Thomas Jackson Peeples, John M. Staton, Frank Block and John Little.

Yesterday morning at the Roman Catholic church occurred the marriage of Mr. Jo-seph A. Cleary and Miss Catherine I. Deihl. seph A. Cleary and Miss Catherine I. Delhi. At 9 o'clock the bridal party entered the church. The ushers, Messrs. H. E. Williamson, M. H. Flynn, A. H. Delhi and James R. Holliday, preceded the bridesmaids, Miss Johnson and the Misses Flynn. The groomsmen, Messrs. Corrigan, Gatins and McWillams, were followed by the bride, who entered with the maid of honor, Miss Cleary, of Boston, Mass. The groom and his best way. Mr. Lynn, L. Gordfary metical. of Boston, Mass. The groom and t man, Mr. John L. Gardner, awaited the bridal party at the altar, where the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. B. J. Kelley. Then followed the nuptial mass, one of the most impressive of ceremonies, including beautiful sacred music.

The bride wore a gown of ivory white satin with corsage draperies of point duchesse. She wore the conventional veil and blos satin. She possesses that type of beauty always striking when combining brown eyes, soft white skin and the hair that Titian loved to paint. The maid of honor wore a stylish gown of white taffeta silk, and the bridesmaids were pretty in white organdie, finished with ribb number of friends were entertained at the residence of the bride's father. Among the wedding gifts was an elaborate chest of silver, containing eight dozen pieces, a gift of the Atlanta division of the Southern Express Company, of which the groom is a popular official.

will meet Thursday at 16 o'clock a. m. The dance given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Howell Jackson complimentary to her son, Mr. Renfroe Jackson, was one of the most delightful affairs ever given in Atlanta. Mr. Jackson made an ideal host and every on had a charming time. Mrs. Jackson wore an elegant yellow brocaded satin trimmed with black, and looked unusually hand-some. Miss Mary Lou Jackson was extremely pretty in a dainty gown of white silk, trimmed in lace. The drawing rooms were brilliantly lighted and decorated in palms and magnolias. At midnight delightful refreshments were served in the beautiful dining room. The table was very artistically arranged with sweet peas, carna-tions and maiden hair ferns. Mr. Jackson was one of this year's graduates from the Boys' High school, where he always stood high in his class. He will probably go to the University of Georgia next term. Those invited were Misses Julia Porter, Mary Lou Fletcher, Mary Kingsberry, Annie Wright, Kate Williams, Lottie Stewart, Marie Stew-art, Myrtle Scott, Mamle Nicolson, Mary Nicolson, Willie Burke, Augusta Wylie, Liia Wing, Annie Lou Hawkins, Catherine Gay Alice Green, Mary Armond, Ethel May Lucy Newman, Eugenia Oglesby, Emma Belle Lowndes, Aline Ruse, Lizzie May Smith, Susie Glover, Stacy Ernest, Martha James, Dalsy Arnold, Nita Black, Bessie James, Daisy Arnold, Nita Black, Bessic Morris, Gypsie Morris, Ethel Cook, Hallie Patillo, Belle Nash and May Kenny; Messrs. ATLANTA .... GEORGIA:

Established 1874.

Since February, 1874, this institution has been actively and continuously engaged in the treatment of chronic diseases and deformities, and its work has been done so quietly and so free from parade and laudation that very few, except those cured, know of the varied and splendid facilities employed and the wonderful results secured. The methods employed embrace manual and mechanical massage, thermal and vacuum treatment, vibratory and oscillating motions, Turkish, Russian, thermal, needle and electric baths; Swedish movements, static, faradic and galvanic electricity, the application of the kneeding, rubbing and brushing appliances, physical culture, etc., etc. Indeed the best and most successful facilities known to hygienists are employed as well as many new mechanical devices peculiar to this institute alone.

Among the affections cured may be mentioned: Uterine derangements, prolapsus or falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, painful, frequent, profuse, scanty and irregular menstruation, ulceration and laceration of the womb, diseased ovaries, dyspepsia, constipation, general nervous debility, affections of the kidneys, liver and bladder, neurasthenia, nervous prostration, "that tired feeling," insomnia, malnutrition and assimilation and all the train of evils brought on by overwork, dissipation and excesses.

A cordial invitation is extended by the proprietors to all who may feel interested to call at the institute and see what is being done for the cure of diseases and

New York, June 12 .- The stock market today was characterized by strength until just previous to the close, when there was a slump in Distilling and Chicago Gas. Distilling was rather heavy all day and refused to respond to the advance in the general market, and in the last fifteen minutes of business it suddenly dropped to 181,8c, a loss of about 2 per cent for the day. The break was due to a rumor that the quo warranto case had been decided against the company. The story was circulated just before the close of the day, and it was impossible to confirm it here. Chicago Gas in sympathy dropped from 74% to 71%, but later recovered to 724. Distilling also sold up to 19 in the firal dealings. The railway list was strong, and on good buying by commission house an advance of anywhere from ½ to 2 per cent was recorded. Susquehanna and West cent was recorded. Susquelanna and western preferred was an exception, and sold up nearly 4 points on the belief that the company has weathered the storm. It is understood that the money required to meet its pressing obligations had been provided for and that a practical man will have charge of the company's operating department in the future. In addition it is asserted that the company will be found working in harmony with the big Anthracite roads in the future. The rise in the general roads in the future. The rise in the general list was based on the improved outlook for the crops, good rains being again reported from the grain belt and better railway traffic returns for the first week in June. Among the conspicuously strong stocks were the Vanderbilts, Grangers, Pacific Mail, Missouri Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Western Union and Southern railway. The last named rose to 194 for the common and to 41% for the preferred. strength of the latter was due to reports that J. Pierpont Morgan had placed anoth-er block of the stock in London. The bituminous coalers were in better demand on the announcement that the miners in the Wheeling and Lake Erie district had returned to work. In the Industrials, outside of Chicago Gas and Distilling, Sugar was the feature and advanced to within a fraction of 120 on the improvement in trade condi tions. When Distilling and Chicago Gas broke, however the stock fell to 118%. Specorose, however the stock rell to 1884. Speculation closed steady in tone. The advance in prices for the day ranged from 14 to 2 per cent, the Vanderbilts leading. Susquehanna and Western preferred gained 2% per cent; General Electric 1%; Distilling 114 and Chicago Gas 2 per cent. Sales were 253.815 shares, of which 40,000 were St. Paul, 28 500 Rurgington and Output, 25 500 Surgin 38,500 Burlington and Quincy, 35,800 Sugar, and 26,000 Distilling

The rise in Pacific Mail Tuesday is said to be the first of an aggressive move in the stock which will carry it well above 40. A new interest is understood to have taken hold of the property because it is clear of floating debt, has over $200,000 cash on hand and is doing an enormous business at paying rates. They argue that there is no other stock on the list where the financial condition is so good, the earn-ing capacity as great and the price of the stock lower. They are satisfied the company can easily earn and pay 4 per cent on the stock this year, and it is therefore selling very much below its intrinsic value. Raw sugars firm and quiet; refined quiet;

New York, June 12.—New York News Bureau, by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager. The stock market today was fairly active and stronz.

The absence of London support was compensated for her particular to the strong to the stron rensated for by an increase in commission rouse business. Excellent crop and weather reports carried the Grangers up

1 per cent and over. Sharp advances in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Leuis and Southern rail-way gave rise to rumors of a coming deal between the two companies.

The Vanderbilt stocks as a rule showed reviving strength. The coalers were steady to firm with a sharp rally in Susquehanna and Western. Mail cose over 2 per cent, and the Gould stocks were fairly strong.

There were variable fluctuations in Sugar. but on a somewhat higher level. General Electric and Distilling and Cattle Feeding were weak, while Chicago Gas held steady. There were large realizations, but the market absorbed them easily and closed strong at a general improvement.

O'Dell & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. the stock might react some from its quick rise, but on a reaction he thought it could be bought for materially higher prices. People who think themselves in cose touch with the stock believe it will sell above 40. Moore & Schley bought Burlington and Quincy in quantity early in the day, taking at least 5,000 shares. This started covering and was followed by purchases by houses with Chicago connections, and coincidentally by Mr. Bell, Mr. Wharton and other large traders. The impression yesterday night was that the stock would be carried further. It was confidently as-lower here and 12 to 13 points in New Orleans, but later there was a moderate recovery, prices ending 5 to 7 points lower than last night. Ellison & Co. state that English spinners hold 246,000 bales, against 106,000 last year and the continent 731,000, against 632,000. The trading is small and a temporary reaction would not be surprising.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, June 12.—Summary Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s cotton letter: Greatly to the surprise of the trade, Liverpool declined today in the face of the knowledge that Mr. Neill would publish a bullish circular this morning, and the explanation oftered from Europe is the absence of demand for cetton from spinners who, having large supplies of cotton, are indisposed to accumulate cotton without positive bad crop advices. This disappointment from Liverpeol caused a decline in our market, which at the time reached 10 points below last evening, a portion of which was, however, recovered and the close was 7 points below yesterday's close. American spinners are tot as yet anxious, and their absence from the market, coupled with the disinclination of Liverpool to purchase more than their co-sumption, is creating considerable comment among holders of cotton throughout the country. In view of the disappointing advices from abroad and the absence of this demand the market shows great tenacity. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Pry Goods.

From The Wall Street Journal.

The advance of Pige per yard on Amoskeag A. C. A. ticks is the sole feature of the general market. The jobbing market is quiet on spot but good results are accruing through the mails. Collections are the most favorable feature in the situation at present. There are fewer overdue accounts than in several years past. Reports from the chief markets are very encouraging, inasmuch as they foreshadow a more liberal preliminary demand for all merchandise at this stage of the season than at any corresponding period since 1890. The primary market is strong and an advance to a higher level would not surprise anybody.

The market has been sluggish, but producers are firm in consequence of the steadiness of cotton. Buyers will not raise their limits and dealers in India are determined to resist an advance in prices. Transactions are limited mostly to specialties. Many manufacturers are badly in want of orders, but buyers are awaiting news of the overdue Monsoon before making purchases. There is some China inquiry, and sales are good in shirting, sheetines, finishing goods and specials, but the mere mention of the terms has prevented the acceptance of much business. There have been some purchases in South America, Yarns are slow but firm.

Industrial Notes.

Industrial Notes.

From The Wall Street Journal.

The advance of 1 cent in linseed oil was due to the better demand acting upon a sensitive market. The American seed is practically used up, and crushers from now out must depend upon foreign seed. The acreage this year will be about equal to that of last. A disappointing Argentine crop has further strengthened the home seed market. Cotton seed oil is very dull, owing largely to an almost total cessation of the foreign demand. Prices are firm, however, and the market is destined to improve the moment exporters become at all active.

The visible supply in lard in Europe, America and afloat June 1st was 295,709 tierces, against 276,638 a year ago, and 137,482 two years ago. Of this amount Europe held 125,009, 137,000 and 57,500 tierces on the respective dates, while the amounts afloat there were 41,000, 42,000 and 32,000 tierces respectively.

The exports of cotton seed oil in April there were 41,001, 42,000 and 52,000 therees respectively.

The exports of cotton seed oil in April were 2,191,370 gallons, against 1,024,823 gallons in April, 1894.

White lead has been in good demand on contracts. The trade confidently expects an advance next month in anticipation of a heavy fall trade.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, June 12.—(Special.)—Liverpool, to the surprise of everybody, broke sharply today and there was a decline of about 10 points in our market, but the demand was very steady at the decline, though the trading was dull and prices rallied several points from the lowest. August opened at 7.13, declined to 7.11, advanced to 7.15 and closed at 7.124.14 with the tone quiet and steady. The light volume of the transactions seemed to indicate an unwillingness on the part of the holders to sell out. The main argument of the bears just now is that there is a lack of buying power to put prices higher and a total absence of any short interest to support the market in case of a decline. Under these circumstances they claim that the buils will presently become tired of waiting for a profit and throw overboard their holdings at a loss. This has happened often before and may happen again, but there are certainly no indications in today's market that any such liquidation is at hand. It is possible that the market may go lower, but in that case we are satisfied that buyers on the decline will make a profitable venture. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, June 12.—Cotton fell 8@9 points, then railied slightly and closed quiet and steady with sales of 94,800 bales. New Orleans declined 12@13 points and then recovered 5 points of this. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot, with sales of 8,000 bales. Futures fell 3@3½ points and then recovered 5 points of this. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot, with sales of 8,000 bales. Futures fell 3@3½ points and closed easy. The Natchez, Miss., Democrats reports that grasshoppers in the Concordia parish were feasting on the young cotton. Spot prices in this country were generally unchanged with trade quiet. One thousand bales sold for export here on direct shipments and 250 bales for spinning. Galveston was weak. Port recepts 1,492, against 2,765 last year. The New York warehouse stock is now 210,000 bales, against 204,000, 184,000, 336,000, 150,000 and 94,000 in the previous five years.

Today's Features—The weekly government report was in some respects favorable, as it showed that the plant is making better progress. At, the same time it states that the weather has been too ramy and too cool in the gulf states. Many reports from Texas take the ground that the crop is late—about two weeks late—and that some cotton will have to be abandoned on account of the grass. The detailed Louisiana report says that the country has become grassy in some sections; that some of it is dying and there is a unanimity of opinion as to its lateness. The detailed Texas bureau report says that the rains at the close of the week made the ground too wet for cultivation in many localities, and that the cotton is late generally.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Wheat Declined Two Cents on a Bear Raid and Rains Tuesday Night.

Chicago, Ill., June 12.—The bears discovered that an opportunity to break prices in wheat had arrived this morning. They were not slow to avail themselves of that opportunity and the decline shown at the close testified to the success achieved. The rains of last night made it possible to engineer a slump, the buying against puts early being the only obstacles—encountered, and even those obstacles encountered, and even those proved a weak element during the last hour for the sellers of wheat to protect themselves. Whilst it was not argued that the present showers would increase the yield of wheat, still the contention was ap propriately made that they would preven further deterioration, and that a continua-tion of normal conditions would leave th country in a distressing position as gards supplies for the coming year. July wheat opened from 13% to 75%, sold between 80% and 75%, crosing at 13% 1675%, 2 ower than yesterday. Cash wheat was about 13% lower when trading was in progress, out at the close prices were normally 12%2c lower.

Corn—The country sold corn early in the ally 1520 lower.

Corn—The country sold corn early in the session and the professional and hirends kept seiling all day. It was not nowever, a very active or important market, but the sentiment—favored lowerizes, and they declined. The rains an earticularly cheerful advices from the cronchned trade to a bearish view of the mutation, which, taken in conjunction with weak wheat market, resulted in 1c lower alues. July corn opened at 505gc, sold be ween 51g and 505gc/52c, closing at 505gc (condense vesterlay). n 51% and 50% g55½c, closing at 50% ander yesterday. Cash corn was 1@1½

Ac under yesterday. Cash corn was 19/12c lower.

Oa:s—Like everything else in the grain line oats were believed to have derived benefit from the rain. Prices were, consequently, not quite so good. There was evidence of selling by the elevator people and some country orders of a similar character were received. July oats closed by lower than yesterday. Cash oats were off to correspond with the futures, the average loss to prices being small.

Provisions—The trade in provisions was very light and prices were lower. The hog market furnished a weak motive and speculators found comfort in the grain markets. The market dragged most of the session, no incline worthy of note markets. The market dragged most of the session, no incline worthy of note transpring. July pork closed 15c lower, July lard and July ribs each 5c lower. Domestic markets were easier.

Chicago, June 12.-The wheat marke after the first hour today developed con siderable weakness, C.ncinnati and other local operators being reported large sellers Continued rains west and southwest, ex tending into Illinois, had a tendency create a bearish feeling at the opening, but it was argued that moisture will be of no benefit now to winter wheat, while, on the other hand, heavy rains would reof no benefit now to winter wheat, while, on the other hand, heavy rains would retard harvesting. This, together with advices from the nonthwest saying that the rainfall is excessive, caused shorts to cover, advancing values about ½c per bushel. After this the weather became a less important feature, the market being governed by the general disposition of both the local and outside trade, which is to trade on both sides. Selling orders, however, predominated, coming from holders, professionals and scalpers. Under these free offerings prices lost 2c from the high point. The interior cash demand is still good, but the approach of harvest giving promise of free deliveries naturally caused timidity among the trade and holdings instead of being held for a further advance are now coming on the market for the profit there is in them. There is also a disposition to sell shorts, but apparently not for any great decline, which leads us to believe that, although the market has an apparent downward tendency, short sales will be covered freely on all good breaks. We have heard only from the man who has a good yield is somewhere in the land and will be heard from. Pyramids too large at the top are a little dangerous just now. Exponts were the smallest for any one day that has been posted in a long time, only about 24,000 bushels in all.

The features in coarse grains have been the continued rain and the favorable crop bulletins. The selling was led by commission houses with country connections. Receipts of corn are light, but seem sufficient to meet the local demand.

Provisions suffered a decline in free selling of long stuff. Trade has been light.

The Teams Change Around.

Today the teams change around and this inds up the trip. Atlanta plays Memphis xt for three games and then comes home and opens up with Chattanooga on Mon-day. Today the teams will line up this way:

Atlanta at Memphis.
Chattanooga at Little Rock.
Nashville at New Orleans. Evansville at Montgomery.

Here's hard luck for Atlanta. For a week or ten days, at least, the club will be without the services of its Billy," many Atlanta admirers will be extremely sorry to learn, has been called to his home in Syracuse on a sad mis-sion. News reached him at Little Rock of now comes the information that she is Manager Knowles at once sent for a young man named Norton, pitcher for the Ohio State university team, to take Callahan's place during his absence. Norton is considered a very promising youngster. Just when he will join the team is not known.

Little Rock succumbed for the second Jack Horner. The work of the team in the fleid was perfect and they hammered the ball for all they were worth, making four-teen hits off Crinnion and Briggs together. This makes the third time that Horner has pitched against the Little Rocks and they only made one run off him in the three Atlanta will cross bats with the Bluff City boys at Memphis today. Wood will be in the box and with the support the Atlantas have given their pitchers in the last two games he will surely win his game. Neither Wood nor Horner has pitched against the Memphians this sea-son. Callahan and Wynne did the work while Memphis was here.

Made It Three Straights.

Little Rock, Ark., June 12.—(Special.)— Knowles's aggregation of baseball players ook the third straight game from the locals today. Hornung was in the box again, Callahan having been called to his home in New York this morning on account of the leath of his wife. The rosebuds could not touch Hornung, only in one inning. The home team's only score was made on a home run over the fence. Crimion started to pitch for the locals and did well till the fifth inning, when the visitors hammered him all over the lot, getting seven runs, and drove him out of the box. Briggs fin-ished the game, and held the visitors down to two hits the remainder of the game The Atlantas are now playing fast ball, and with such support as the last two days, could win with a pitcher not half so good-as Hornung. After the game had been cinched Knowles tetired from the game and put Wilson on first, and that gentleman. accepted every chance without an error. The umpire gave general dissatisfaction to both sides. Atlanta will be crippled by Callahan's absence, as Wood and Hornung will be compelled to do double duty. This makes the third game that Hornung I as pitched against the Rosebuds, and only one run has been made off him in the three Following is the score:

Two Out of Three.

Montgomery, Ala. June 12.—The game today was one of the most exciting ever played on the home grounds, Montgomery winning in the ninth inning. Joe Neal helped win his own game with his hitting, his home run in the ninth starting the freworks and making it two out of three for the home team from Nashville.

Amateur Playing.

Memphis, Tenn., June 12.—Chattanooga went into the field today with a team all crippled. Sechrist, who pitched, was in bad shape and the home team hit him hard, the game was called at the end of the eighth inning to allow Chattanooga to catch a train. The attendance was small.

Batteries: Gillen and O'Meara: Sechrist, ummer and Fisher. Umpire, Kline. The Umpire Robbed New Orleans.

The Umpire Robbed New Orleans. New Orleans, June 12.—A deliberate perversion of judgment on the part of Umpire Nichols gave Evansville the game today by a score of 5 to 7. New Orleans made five runs in the first inning and had the game up to the ninth, when Dalrymple hit a foul ball to the bleachers and Nichols called it fair. The ball hit fairly six feet in the foul territory, and what lends added color to the claim of foul is the fact that a hit to the bleachers was good for a home run and Beard agreed to take but three bases on the hit. Smith went to pieces after that and allowed three runs to cross hit a foul ball to the bleachers and Nichols called it fair. # BERESFORD'S FATE.

Governor Atkinson Still Undecided as To What He Will Do.

THE YOUNG LORD'S FRIENDS ACTIVE

The Camp Captain Writes a Letter to the Governor in Behalf of Beresford, and Urgesthe Granting of the Pardon.

The governor has as yet rendered no decision in regard to the application for pardon filed with him by Beresford's friends. The fate of the young lord is still a matter of speculation and no one knows what the governor will do.

Almost every mail brings some interesting letter, either urging the granting of the pardon or requesting that the papers be turned down. Beresford's friends are very active in his behalf and they have mailed the governor many letters asking that executive clemency be exercised. The relatives of the lord's wife are equally anxious that the man be compelled to serve out the Beresford has evidently made a good record at the lumber camps and has done his work well. On yesterday the captain of the convict camp wrote a letter to Governor At "His Excellency W. Y. Akkinson, Governor of Georgia-Beresford has so persistently denied the majority of the allegations made against him by David Bennett King, of New York, that I was prompted to make a test of the truth or falsity of his defense and thereupon wired the chief of police of St. Johns, Newfoundland, as follows: 10th man named Beresford or Lascelles ever visit your town and committrand."

"A few moments ago I received his reply, which I inclose. I embrace this opportunity of once more expressing the opinion that Beresford is not nearly so black as painted by his enemy, King, and that the statements made to his discredit should be accepted with the proverbial 'grano salis.'

Earnestly hoping that the unfortunate young man will receive his pardon from your excellency during the present week, and assuring you if my continued confidence in him, I remain yours respectfully,

E. A. MONGAN,
"Camp Captain."

The governor was asked what he would do in the matter when the case was heard, say just yet what his decision would be. "I am waiting until all the letters, pro and con, are received, and then I w.u de termine whether I will grant the pardor or refuse it.

"The camp officials appear to be greatly interested in his behalf and it is evident that the young man has made a good record since he was placed in the camp. His wife's relatives, hwoever, are making a bitter fight against the granting of his pardon and are doing a great deal to keep the man by depressing the contract of the camp. the man in convict garb

At about 7 o'clock, when driving in front of the mansion, Mr. Ernest Loc of the mansion, Mr. Ernest Looney, a son of Detective Looney, suddenly found him-self thrown from his buggy to the street, at the same time seeing that the cause was a rear collision of his conveyance and one attached to a runaway horse. Mr. Looney's buggy was broken and smashed almost beyond recognition and he had a marvelous escape from serious or fatal injury, the collision being a terrific one.

He was assisted in another conveyance and driven to his home on Peachtree street, where he was resting well at 11 o'clock last night, his injuries being in his left hip, the extent of which was not exactly known by members of his family last night, it not being thought, however, that he was seriously hurt.

Mr. Looney's horse did not become frightened at the collision and only walked off a few feet, when he stopped at the bidding of his master, which probably saved Mr. Looney from serious injury, it being impossible to disentangle himself from the wreckage without assistance.

Governor Atkinson witnessed the accident and came to the rescue of Mr. Looney, rendering the latter aid in bringing order out of the chaos.
